DEBATE OVER DRY LAW SHIFT STILL PUZZLE

Think Drys Look for Elimination of Politics in Enforcement

WANT BETTER AGENTS
Mrs. Willebrandt Not Likely to Volunteer Comment at Inquiry

Washington.—(AP)—Attorney General Mitchell today urged the house expenditures committee to expedite action on legislation to transfer the prohibition enforcement unit from the treasury to the justice department.

Mitchell said he was in accord with the recommendations of Secretary Mellon before the committee favoring the transfer and endorsed the Williamson bill to effect this change.

Representative Cochran, democrat, Missouri, asked Mitchell to give his assurance that dry agents would not use federal court subpoenas on large industrial concerns to obtain information. He charged that dry agents had summoned officials of the American Can company and the Corn Products company, from St. Louis to Springfield, Ill., with federal court subpoenas.

Mitchell answered that he did not believe in considering questions of that kind during the formulation of legislation of the character before the committee.

Washington.—The controversy going on just now over the transfer of the prohibition unit from the treasury department to the department of justice is something of a puzzle. The drys want the transfer made because they say it will combine in one department the duties of detection and prosecution. Secretary Mellon has no objection to the change.

Yet the whole thing is a subject of inquiry because of the belief that something more fundamental is involved than a mere administrative change. The suspicion is growing that the drys believe they can rid the department of justice of political influence more effectively than they could any other department.

As a matter of fact, the attorney general has conceded that he is having trouble in getting the right kind of men for the office of United States attorney. Senator Borah of Idaho, has criticized the personnel of the prosecuting machinery of the government.

Inasmuch as most United States attorneys are recommended for office by members of congress the department of justice finds it difficult to keep out political influence. It sometimes happens that a United States attorney having broad discretionary powers is approached by local political bosses who in turn are important factors in keeping a member of congress or a senator in office.

In the series of articles written by Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt recently she spoke of the difficulty of enforcement of prohibition on account of politics. She has been invited to testify before the house committee on expenditures in the executive departments and it is expected that she will be questioned closely as to why the transfer from the treasury department to the department of justice is being proposed.

TESTIMONY DOUBTFUL
Mrs. Willebrandt stated in the government service she would have had charge of the entire prohibition machinery. Now that she is out of office she is free to criticize the methods pursued. It is doubtful whether she will.

State Sure Of Federal Highway Aid

No Special Legislative Session Will Be Required, Governor Says

Madison.—(AP)—Federal highway aid for Wisconsin will be forthcoming for the calendar year 1930 without the necessity of a special legislative session to effect a change in the law governing administration of the highway appropriations, Gov. Walter Kohler announced today.

The governor's announcement said that funds which total almost $2,000,000, will be available as a result of negotiations between the federal Bureau of Public Roads and the Wisconsin Highway commission.

Federal officials are of the opinion that the present Wisconsin law does not comply with the requirement that expenditure of federal aid money be controlled by the state rather than by counties. Because of this, the matter will undoubtedly be one of the subjects for the 1931 legislature, the governor said.

The present Wisconsin law places administration of highway funds with the counties. For some time rumors were current that a special session of the legislature would be necessary in order that federal aid might be obtained through an amendment of the law but they were dispelled by the governor's announcement.

REPRISALS THREAT OF MANILA GANGS

Authorities Take Steps to Guard Americans—Blame
California Riots

Manila.—(AP)—Anti-Filipino riots in California which have caused wide spread discussion in Manila today had brought threats from Manila gangster chieftains against Americans. Authorities, however, gave prompt assurance that Americans are in no danger.

Police Chief C. E. Pitts announced precautions were being taken to guard cabarets and strategic points in the city where isolated attacks were possible against individuals but expressed confidence that there would be no outbreaks. Labor leaders joined in the assurance.

The Philippine Herald, leading nationalist daily, reported that chieftains of Manila gangs already had held several "conferences" and had decided to cooperate in their "vindication" plan.

Soldiers and sailors were to be the special object of the gangsters' attention, the paper said.

The Chamber of Commerce of the Philippines, a Filipino organization, adopted a resolution of protest against the recent anti-Filipino disturbance at Watsonville, Calif., during which a Filipino was killed. Several other students and civic groups also plan protest meetings.

HUCKINS AND WIFE AT EXTRADITION HEARING

Hancock.—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Elmer S. Hutchins, under indictment at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, on charges of obtaining money under false pretenses, with the caretaker of their estate here and others will leave today for Madison to attend the hearing on Hutchins' extradition to Iowa.

Gov. Walter J. Kohler will hear the pleas of Hutchins' attorneys, against and Cedar Rapids attorneys, for the extradition petition of Gov. John Hammill of Iowa.

Reds, Nationalists Clash On Indian Independence

Bombay, India.—(AP)—Sitting scenes were enacted in various parts of India Sunday as nationalist advocates the empire over gathered to express their aspirations for Indian independence.

One hundred thousand assembled for a mass meeting at Chowpatty Sands and passed an independence resolution. A strong Communist mill workers' faction clashed with nationalists and in a free-for-all fighting several were injured.

At Ashram, the little colony of Mahatma Gandhi, "reverable" advocate of passive resistance to British domination, spent the day with fasting and spinning and at an evening meeting in the presence of their leader passed the resolution for independence.

The meeting at Chowpatty Sands was in progress when a number of Communist mill workers bearing a red flag arrived and urged the audience to pull down the national flag. A free-for-all fight ensued. One Communist finally climbed the flag-post and nailed on the "hammer and sickle" banner.

FIXED RATIO IS LIKELY TO BE ABANDONED

Italian Problem May Be Solved by Voluntary Agreement Between Nations

London.—(AP)—As the naval powers moved toward compromise today on two of their most troublesome problems—the physical methods of limiting fleets and Italy's demand of parity with France—Great Britain made a new gesture of faith in the naval conference success by announcing that construction of her two newest cruisers has been cancelled.

The British announcement coincided with a meeting of the "Big Five" in Downing street at which further progress was said to have been made toward a compromise on a tonnage plan designed to settle the perennial argument on this technical phase of naval limitation.

At the same time it was disclosed that serious consideration was being given by several delegations to a proposal that the Italian parity problem be met by a treaty declaration in which all powers would join. This would state that the sovereign right of every nation to build an adequate fleet was fully recognized but that the signatories voluntarily agreed not to exceed a certain construction program now and 1936.

Wheeler and Borah Demand
Removal of Montana-Idaho
Administrator

Washington.—(AP)—Immediate removal of John F. C. Herbert, as prohibition administrator for Montana and Idaho was demanded in the senate today by Senators Borah, Idaho, and Wheeler, Montana, on the ground of charges placed before them by department of justice investigators.

Wheeler accompanied his demand with a declaration that prohibition enforcement has broken down. He blamed the "politicians" and called upon the law enforcement commission to summon members of the Republican National committee before it to determine "how prohibition officers are appointed."

BREWERS LOSE INCOME TAX CASE AT CAPITAL

Washington.—(AP)—The supreme court held today in denying brewing companies the right to deduct the value of lost good will from income tax returns that when a business is destroyed by congress the owners were not entitled to ask compensation by tax reduction.

The right of brewing establishments, closed as a result of national prohibition, to seek such compensation was raised by the Libbey Crystal Springs Brewing company of northern New York.

Frederick C. Ranzhausen of Pittsburgh, also failed in the supreme court today in an effort to have certain deductions made in federal taxes from 1913 to 1921 for losses he said were suffered through federal prohibition by the large distilling company, which he owned and a wholesale liquor firm, in which he was a partner.

PRINCESS ILEANA REPORTED ENGAGED TO HOCHBERG COUNT

Bucharest, Rumania.—(AP)—Official announcement of the engagement of Princess Ileana, daughter of Dowager Queen Marie, to Count Alexander of Hochberg, second son of the prince of Pless, is expected next Saturday.

The approaching engagement was celebrated at a family gathering at Fredel yesterday.

(The newspaper Curbantul of Bucharest last Saturday said that the only reason public announcement of the engagement was being held up was because both concerned were seeking a means by which the princess might retain her royal title.) Princess Ileana, who celebrated her 21st birthday this month, has been reported engaged many times, the prince of Wales, Prince Humbert of Italy and several other members of royal families being among those mentioned. Count Alexander, who is 25, is the second son of the head of the House of Pless.

Robberies Totalling More Than $100,000 May Be Solved as Result of Raids

Chicago.—(AP)—Following a month of secret investigation, which included telephone wire tapping, police last night and early today rounded up 22 persons in a series of spectacular raids which they said may lead to the solution of jewel robberies totalling more than $100,000.

An assistant state's attorney, a policeman and several women were among the persons questioned. The assistant state's attorney, Harry H. Busch, was released on order of Patrick Roche, chief investigator for the state's attorney, who said: "While his name was mentioned in telephone conversations there is insufficient evidence to hold him."

The policeman, Roche said, explained satisfactorily the linking of his name with the persons taken in the raids. He also was released.

Roche said he also had information the gang intended to rob a Detroit hotel tonight. The raids were led by Roche and Chief of Detectives John Stege. At one place they found a safe of shotguns and revolvers. Saved-off shotguns and revolvers were concealed in auto cushions equipped with flaps to permit easy access.

WHEELER SAYS BRITISH RULE U. S. RAYON PLANTS

Washington.—(AP)—Appealing for a reduction in the tariff on rayon raw materials and yarns, Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, asserted in the senate today that British controlled production in the country.

"If there's one schedule in this bill that is going to take millions from the American farmer and put it in the hands of the greatest trust in the world it is rayon," he said.

The American Viscose company, chief rayon producer, is owned and controlled by London interests, he continued, adding it had "piled up millions of profits" and had "paid the tremendous dividends in cash and stock."

Asking a rate of 25 per cent on single and grouped rayon filaments, and single yarns in place of rates in the bill ranging from 45 to 50 per cent, Wheeler said:

"I'm not seeking this reduction in the name only of the American farmer. I'm seeking it also in the name of the entire manufacturing. The cotton industry is in the do-dime."

ORDER $10,000 BOND IN POISON PLOT CHARGES

Chicago.—(AP)—Mrs. Meta Testman, mother of seven children and charged with attempting to poison her husband, was today ordered to post $10,000 bond pending a hearing on extradition papers served upon her by the state of Wisconsin. Mrs. Testman was the world's first woman to be charged with attempting to poison her husband.

Mrs. Deakin declared that the woman, her husband's former stenographer, was not a poisoner and had no intention of poisoning him. She said she had written a letter to her husband, Mrs. Testman, and believed Mrs. Testman wanted to kill her so that she could marry Mr. Deakin. Mrs. Testman declared the implication preposterous.

FIND SECOND MAN IN SHOOTING AT CUDAHY

Milwaukee.—(AP)—Herman Rose sought since last Thursday night when Ben Mandelman, Cudahy brewer, was shot and killed and his wife seriously wounded, was captured today in New Castle, Ind., according to information received here. John Amxy, Jackson, Ky., was captured after the shooting and has confessed, according to police.

Amxy and Rose, who also is from Kentucky, police say, went to the Mandelman grocery and demanded $1,000 from the grocer's wife for food and shelter. She called her husband and when he appeared, Amxy is alleged to have drawn a revolver and shot Mandelman's condition was reported critical today.

More Credit And Cheaper Help Forecast For Farmers

But Department of Agriculture Warns Against Over-production

Washington.—(AP)—The American farmer is advised by the department of agriculture that he may expect more favorable marketing credit conditions this year and a somewhat greater supply of labor at slightly lower wages, but is warned against imminent over-production in several lines.

The department's annual farm outlook report, issued for publication today, forecast a lessened demand for farm products through the summer and fall, as compared with the same seasons of 1929, although an improved domestic market was predicted for the closing weeks of the year.

This report is regarded by the department as "probably the most important of its annual economic studies. It is issued for the purpose of guiding the farmer in adjusting his production to meet the needs of the nation."

The forecast for 1930 listed more favorable farm mortgage financing conditions, no immediate change in the price of fertilizers and unchanged price level for farm machinery and less satisfactory production credit conditions than a year ago in most of the south.

Man Hangs Himself In Oneida Barn

The body of Frank Schmechel, 35, was found hanging from a rope attached to a carrier rail in a barn on his farm in the town of Oneida, at 10 o'clock Monday morning by Henry Neff, a farm hand. Schmechel had been dependent since the death of his wife a year ago. It is believed he had been dead only a few minutes before he was found.

Schmechel had made his daily trip to a cheese factory near Oneida early this morning. He was last seen alive at Oneida, where he purchased his groceries. He left the groceries in his farm home and then went to the barn.

Schmechel is the father of two children, Dolores, 7, and Donald, 3, who live with an aunt, Mrs. Forrest Dingman, Green Bay. Mrs. Neff lives on the Schmechel farm.

The sheriff and coroner of Green Bay county, summoned, said no inquest would be held as it was a plain case of suicide.

Parachute Fails to Open in Time to Save Flier from Death

Oakland, Calif.—(AP)—Lieut. Norman A. Goodard, former navy flier, and recently operator of a Palo Alto aviation school, is dead as the result of the collapse of a glider in which he attempted to execute a loop yesterday over the Alameda airport.

The frail craft collapsed as Goodard pulled it out of a dive preparatory to looping at an altitude of 2,000 feet. Entangled in the flapping fabric of the wings, the pilot struggled to free himself and use his parachute, but a matter of seconds cost him his life. He died right at the falling craft. Goodard worked loose and jumped from the cockpit at a height of 150 feet. His parachute opened a few seconds too late to check his fall and Goodard plunged into the waters of the Oakland estuary. He still was alive when airport attendants reached him in a launch. He was pronounced dead on arrival at the Alameda hospital.

CONVICTED MAYOR TO RESIGN HIS OFFICE

East Chicago, Ind.—(AP)—Mayor Ralph H. Hale, convicted ten days ago for conspiracy against the federal dry law, was expected to resign this afternoon at a special meeting of the city council. He was re-elected last fall and began his second term as mayor Jan. 6, the day before he went on trial for the conspiracy.

Hale, who was 33 years old, was an entrant in the Dole flight when he was in the navy reserve. He designed and built his own monoplane for the trans-Pacific race. With Lieut. Kenneth Hawks as navigator, Goodard took off for Hawaii but at the end of the runway the plane ground-looped and cracked up.

SUPREME COURT HEARS IMPORTANT TAX CASE

Washington.—(AP)—The supreme court today commenced its oral argument on a far-reaching importance, involving the right of the federal and state governments to tax the gains derived from the sale of bonds issued by the other, presented in a case brought from Minnesota by the federal government against Charles W. Burn.

Admitting a federal tax on state or municipal bonds or on interest on such bonds would be invalid, the federal government insisted it was within its rights in imposing a tax on the profit derived from the sale of such securities. The lower federal courts decided against the government.

SLIGHT HOPE FOR LIVES OF TWO AVIATORS

Wreckage Discovered in Lagoon 90 Miles Southeast of North Cape

Nome, Alaska.—(AP)—Mushers from North Cape, Siberia, today heard of their dog teams toward the spot where the wrecked airplane of Carl Ben Eielson, noted Arctic flier, and his companion, Earl Borland, was located Saturday, expected to find the bodies of the two long missing birdmen.

Belief that Eielson and Borland were killed when their plane crashed and their bodies would be found jammed under 13 cases of gasoline in the cabin was expressed here after a more detailed report of the finding of the wreck was received.

Joe Crosson and Harold Gillman, Alaskan fliers who for more than a month had been searching for the missing aviators in the North Cape, area, located the wrecked plane, claiming a search which has lasted for more than two months and which recently became an international affair with the entry of Russian aviators.

White House Denies Shouse's Patronage Charge

NOT AN ITEM TRUTH IN IT, STERN REPLY

Democratic Committeeman
Claims Data on Employees
Is Political Move

Washington (AP)—A sternly worded denial came quickly from the White House last night after J. Edgar Hoover, chairman of the Democratic National Executive Committee, had charged President Hoover with compiling information on government employees for the purpose of bringing patronage influence to bear against recalcitrant members of Congress.

Such phrases as "Democratic propaganda bureau" and "not an item of truth nor basis of fact" were mingled in the reply of the White House, issued through Walter Newton, one of Mr. Hoover's secretaries.

The Democratic statement said that Mr. Hoover had sent cards to all departments "to be filled out by every employee giving a full picture of the history of his employment."

This, the statement said, "is difficult to explain on any non-political hypothesis."

Newton replied that neither he nor the president had "ever heard of the matter until it appeared in the press."

A card index of presidential appointees and other non-civil service employees is kept at the White House as a matter of office routine, he said, and some eight months ago, cards were sent out for the purpose of bringing this list up to date. Three hundred cards have been catalogued since that time, he added, and no civil service employee was included.

Shouse's statement suggested that members of Congress saw in the new system which he charged to the president a purpose of "visiting presidential displeasure upon appointees 'for the sins of their sponsors, such as voting independently' on the chief executive's desires."

"Yielding the patronage club is nothing new in the efforts of presidents who have sought to compel congressional obedience," he said, "but in the past, this concerned future patronage and not interference with men who were already in the jobs and doing their work satisfactorily."

Newton after describing the method of keeping records said in reply that "several weeks ago this same Democratic propaganda bureau launched an attack" upon the chief executive which was so unscrupulous as to invite almost condemnation with the result that the public has been free from their assault for several weeks. He added that "this last is just as baseless as were the others."

EMPLOYMENT FALLS OFF IN DISTRICT

Seventh Federal Reserve
Area Reveals Downward
Trend in December

Chicago (AP)—Industrial employment in December took a downward trend for the third successive month, the Seventh Federal Reserve district's review of business conditions today said, and December was the first month of 1929 showing employment below the figures for the corresponding months of 1928.

Reporting firms of the district disclosed declines of 2.5 per cent in the number of employed and 7.3 in payroll totals for the period from Nov. 15 to Dec. 15, the review added.

The review added that the heaviest recessions took place in the stone, clay and glass products group, amounting to 10.9 per cent in employment and 15.3 per cent in payroll. Cement and brick production was at the season's low with curtailment effective at many plants. Substantial decreases took place also in the vehicles group and in the lumber and wood products group.

The amount of regular savings deposits as of Dec. 31, 1929, was 0.8 per cent greater than on Nov. 30 but 4.3 per cent under a year previous. Number of accounts declined 0.4 per cent from the preceding month but was the same per cent more than a year before.

dered After Man Dies in Hospital

Oklahoma City (AP)—Circumstances surrounding the death of the government's principal witness against 102 officials and residents of Pottawatomie-co., on the eve of their trial on charges of participating in a giant conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws, led today to initiation of an investigation by Roy St. Lewis, United States district attorney.

The witness, Marlon Fuller, former chief of police of Earlboro, Okla., died here Saturday night. He had admitted participating in the alleged "rum rebellion" at St. Lewis, which the government expected to base its case.

Fuller died in an Oklahoma city hospital, his death certificate describing his fatal malady as a liver infection. Members of Fuller's family, the district attorney said, had voiced suspicions, which St. Lewis declined to divulge, regarding his death.

The witness, who also was a defendant in the trial, was confined in the Garfield-co jail at Enid, several weeks ago, at his own request. He said he was afraid to remain at large. His health which was poor when he entered the jail, became rapidly worse, causing his removal to the Oklahoma-co jail here. He was taken recently from the jail to the hospital where he died.

Fuller was charged in the indictment with being a "collector" for the alleged conspirators, who, the government contends, organized to control the manufacture, transportation and distribution of liquor in Pottawatomie-co. He was removed from office in 1927 after an investigation by the attorney general's office.

Later he was arrested for questioning in connection with the robbery of the Canadian Valley bank at Asher, Okla., but was freed at his preliminary hearing.

SEEK CANDIDATES FOR POSTMASTER AT DALE OFFICE

Receive Applications Until
Feb. 21—Hopkins' Term
Expires

(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau) Washington—The United States Civil Service commission has set Feb. 22 as the closing date for the receipt of applications for admission to examinations of candidates for appointment as postmasters at Dale, Outagamie-co, Hustisford, Dodge-co, and Bay City, Pierce-co.

At Dale, the commission of Postmaster Marquis L. Hopkins expired on Jan. 8. He could be reappointed without taking an examination. This job pays $1,100 a year.

At Hustisford, where the salary of postmaster is $1,600, the situation is the same as at Dale. Postmaster Felix A. Roseler's commission expired Jan. 21 and although he is eligible for reappointment without examination, the examination has been called.

At Bay City, Miss Irene Hortenbach has resigned as postmaster. She was reappointed last July when the office was promoted to presidential rank with a salary of $1,100. Examinations will be held at Horton and at Weyauwega, the date to be announced on the admission cards sent to applicants.

ROB FILING STATION
Racine (AP)—The oil station owned by J. W. Strike and operated by Louis Laue was robbed of $20 by two men Sunday.

SIX ALDERMEN TO SEEK REELECTION, RUMORS INDICATE

Other City Officials Are Mum So Far About Candidacy

All of the six aldermen whose terms expire this spring will seek reelection, but no definite statements of candidacy have been obtained from the city officials whose terms end this year.

It is predicted by some of the incumbents that there will be little opposition this year, in view of the fact that a probable change of government might make the term of a successful candidate only one year in length. However, this possibility will not deter the present aldermen from placing their names on the ballot.

So far there has been no indication of opposition in the First, Second and Fourth wards, where Mike Steinhauer, C. D. Thompson and George Brautigan will collect their votes. However the season is still young. With Feb. 18 the last day for filing nomination papers, it is probable that most candidates will wait until the first week in February before making official record of their intentions.

The appearance of new names on the ballot opposite that of Richard Refkin in the Sixth ward has been rumored, and there is some talk of opposition to George Richard in the Third ward and Harvey Priebe in the Fifth. However, no new aspirants for the council have either made definite statements or filed nomination papers.

START TRIAL OF DALE MAN IN COURT HERE

Trial of Leo J. Murphy, Dale, on a charge of practicing chiropractic without a license, opened in the upper branch of municipal court Monday morning before County Judge Fred V. Heinemann. Municipal Judge Theodore Berg was removed from the case on a writ of prejudice. Murphy has previously been tried on this count before Judge Berg, but the jury disagreed and was dismissed. The jury acquitted him on another charge, that of setting himself up as a chiropractor. Murphy was arrested last year on complaint of F. G. Lumde, secretary of the state board of chiropractors.

Nearly Everyone Blind In Horrible Turkish Village

Adiyaman, Turkey (AP)—Now that communications have been opened partially in Turkey's long-isolated provinces, travelers are bringing to the world news of the existence of a hidden and dreadful village: Adiyaman, the village of the blind.

In the dusty, sandy district of Hismansour, not far from the city of Malatia, lies this village, of whose 7,000 inhabitants 6,791 are wholly or partially sightless through the ravages of trachoma.

FIREMEN BATTLE STUBBORN BLAZE AT PAPER PLANT

Fox River Company Loss Is Estimated at Approximately $1,000

Two hours were required by firemen to put out a stubborn fire which started in the housing about steam pipes underneath the floor of No. 5 building at the Fox River Paper company plant about 10 o'clock Sunday night. Waste material which had been stuffed into the housing about the pipes to keep them from freezing caught fire.

The pipes are underneath the floor and the entire building is over a tailrace, so firemen were required to cut through the floor and use cellular pipes to fight the blaze. A heavy fall of smoke hampered the fire fighters but after two hours the blaze was conquered.

Fire Chief George P. McGilgan Monday morning estimated the loss at about $1,000, most of which resulted when stock piled near where the firemen were working was damaged by water.

A loss of $2,000 was caused when a garage, at 425 E. Pacific-st., caught fire from an oil heater about 7:30 Sunday morning and partially destroyed two automobiles and the building. The garage is owned by George Dambuch, 419 E. Pacific-st., who also owned one of the cars. The other car was owned by Bert Worthing, who occupies the house at 425 E. Pacific-st. The garage, of concrete blocks, was badly damaged.

APPLETON AND JANSEN LEAVE FOR ROAD SCHOOL

Frank Appleton, highway commissioner and Anton Jansen, Little Chute, a member of the county highway committee, left Monday morning for Madison where they will attend the state highway school in session there until Thursday. Mr. Appleton is a member of a committee on cooperation between towns and counties in the construction of county trunks. This committee meets Tuesday night and will report to the general conference Wednesday. One of the features of the road school will be a meeting of the State Highway Commissioner's association.

BATTLE SERIOUS COAL DOCK FIRE AT SUPERIOR

Superior (AP)—Sixty dock men and city firemen today fought one of the most serious coal dock fires in the history of the city at the Carnegie dock on St. Louis bay.

Five thousand tons of coal were smoldering there at noon. The blaze started ten days ago, but appeared under control until Sunday when its height was reached.

Besides playing several hose lines in the coal pile, the fire fighters were using two huge clam shell shovels, taking up ten tons at a time and drenching the coal in the icy waters of the bay.

The blaze was under control today and the dock workers and firemen hoped to have it out by the middle of the week.

FOUR ROBBERS TAKE 55 CENTS FROM MAN

Chicago (AP)—Crime doesn't pay, unless 5 cents, divided by four, can be regarded as payment. At the point of pistols four men held up Jack Mecher, a cab driver, and after much waiting of artillery compelled him to disgorge his entire capital, which was four bits and a nickel.

WORLD MUST DROP SELFISHNESS TO GUARANTEE PEACE

Naval Disarmament Alone
Will Not Prevent Future
Wars, Says Pastor

World peace and the history-making importance of the Naval Disarmament Conference in London was the subject of the sermon delivered by Dr. J. A. Holmes at the Methodist church Sunday morning. Dr. Holmes was one of the few Appleton persons who heard the opening of the conference over the radio during the early morning hours on Monday.

Portraying the horrors of the past war, particularly the result of the invention of new methods of warfare, such as poison gas, mobs, poisoning of wells and submarines, Dr. Holmes pointed out that these things would shrink into insignificance as compared to the devices that will come with the next war.

Although the naval disarmament conferences are epochs in the history of the world the pastor said, world peace will never come through the mere reduction of armaments. It will come only when the spirit of Christ comes to the treaty tables, only when the hearts and minds of men are devoid of the selfishness and misdirected ambition that promotes conflict.

Dr. Holmes advised his congregation to follow with interest the movements of the conference and to make an effort to promote a feeling of universal brotherhood. To show how the spirit of Christ is present in the conference, he told how King George, Ramsay MacDonald and Henry L. Stimson, the American representative, all used in their speeches the phrase from the Biblical account of the birth of Christ, Peace on Earth, good will to men.

Weaving the music of the service around the theme of world peace the choir sang "Sanctus" by Gounod; Earl Miller sang "Whither Shall I Go From Thy Spirit" by MacDermid as the offertory, and the closing hymn by congregational was a new world service song "The Waking World" by Frank Mason, North former secretary of the board of foreign missions of the Methodist church.

Dr. Holmes continued his talk on world peace at the vesper service at 4:30 in the afternoon.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT; BAR OF SOAP BLOWS UP, WRECKS SHELF

Many mysterious problems confront fire insurance adjusters and inspectors, but the prize winner has been found, according to E. N. Ehr, of the Western Inspection and Adjustment bureau here.

Deep mystery surrounds the exploding of a bar of soap, spoiling a quart of milk, one chicken, two pounds of butter and a package of soap flakes in a Green Bay grocery store.

The owner has filed a claim with the local adjusters for the damage to the above named commodities and the proprietor of the store claims that the bar of soap, standing on one of the shelves of his store, exploded.

The local adjusters and inspectors are in a quandary, but nevertheless they have the pieces of the bar of soap.

2 CARS ARE STOLEN HERE OVER WEEKEND

Two automobiles were stolen in Appleton over the weekend. A Ford coach, 1927 model, owned by Lawrence Kaphingst, Clintonville, was taken between 2 and 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon from its parking place at the corner of Oneida and Franklin streets. The machine was gray in color and had the 1929 license number, C-57352. A Chevrolet coach, 1927 model, owned by Robert J. Kolasso, 613 W. Winnebago street, was stolen between 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon and 4 o'clock Monday morning from its parking place on N. Superior street between College and Washington streets. The machine was gray in color and had the license number C-209250.

NO BUILDING PERMITS ARE ISSUED LAST WEEK

The absolute bottom fell out of city building last week, when no building permits were issued by John N. Weiland, building inspector. BANK SAVINGS HERE DROPPED $114,000 DURING LAST YEAR

Comparison of Annual Reports Shows Checking Accounts Smaller Too

Savings deposits in Appleton banks at the end of 1929 totaled $1,258,308, a decrease of about $114,000 under 1928 when they totaled $1,372,308, a comparison of the annual reports of the five Appleton banks reveals.

Checking account deposits at the end of 1929 showed an even larger decrease. Figures show a decrease of almost $250,000 in the amounts carried in checking accounts by Appleton people in local banks. A total of $1,422,551 was carried at the end of 1929 compared with $1,672,445 at the end of 1928.

These decreases are reflected in a drop of nearly $200,000 in the total resources of all Appleton banks. The figures show total resources of $12,453,778 at the end of 1929 compared with $12,673,552 at the end of 1928.

BUILDING ACTIVITY IS LESS IN STATE

Contracts let during the week from Jan. 11 to Jan. 17 in Wisconsin amounted to $462,700, according to F. W. Dodge Corporation. The past week's record compares with $1,348,600 against $502,000 during the preceding week.

The following were the most active classes of construction expenditures in the state: $210,500 or 45 per cent. of the total, for residential buildings; $106,100 or 23 per cent. for public works and utilities; $24,000, or 5 per cent. for commercial buildings; and $19,000, or 4 per cent. for public buildings. Milwaukee's record included: $106,500, for residential buildings; $10,500 for school and recreational buildings; and $5,500 for commercial buildings.

During the first 17 business days of January, new building and engineering work has reached a total of $2,312,300, compared with $1,186,700 for the 25 business days in the entire month of December. Milwaukee's total was $171,000 thus far in January, against $9,993,300 in the entire preceding month.

GUARD UNITS WILL BE IN CAMP JUNE 14-28

Although the dates are subject to change, indications are the 120th field artillery band and Co. D, 127th infantry, will be at summer field camp of instruction during the 15 day period from June 14 to June 28, inclusive. Announcement of the camp dates was made by the state, recently. If the dates are changed the two organizations will go into camp the last week in July.

Plans for the summer encampment this year have the state's artillery and infantry regiments in combined maneuvers for two days on the reservation at Camp McCoy, Sparta. The infantry troops will be taken from Camp Douglas to Sparta by train.

The county champions, in an effort to raise enough funds to pay their expenses to the state contest, will present the prize-winning play at Seymour Friday evening, Jan. 21. The Seymour Kiwanis club is sponsoring the appearance. In addition the Woodland Parent Teacher association, town of Seymour, also will present a home talent play. The Woodland group was a contestant in the county contest also.

PLAN NEW ITINERARY FOR FOREMAN CLASSES

A new itinerary of foremanship training classes, which will include mills at Two Rivers, Manitowish, Sheboygan, Cudahy and Racine has been arranged for M. W. Smith, itinerant instructor in foremanship training by H. L. Noyes, itinerant coordinator in the pulp and paper industry at Appleton vocational school.

The new circuit will get under way March 19. At present Mr. Smith is teaching classes in mills throughout the Fox river valley.

Mrs. O'Brien Freed by Jury

Mrs. Genevieve O'Brien was found not guilty of the murder of her husband, William O'Brien, by a verdict returned Thursday night. Her alleged lover, Samuel Howard Dorn, was sentenced to life imprisonment in the same courtroom. The two were at 10:15 p.m. in court.

EIGHT SAFETY SCHOOL DIVISIONS TO MEET

Sectional conferences of the Appleton Safety school will be held at vocational school and Conway hotel. It was announced Monday by Hugh Heilig, trade school director. Divisions to meet include the woodworking, metal working, pulp and paper, construction and public utilities sections.

Moustache Fire Hazard, Building Inspector Finds

It took the Schlitz fire to prove to John N. Weiland, building inspector, what a hazard his moustache was—and was is the right tense, for it longer is. Although his hirsute appendage didn't come in contact with the flames, he realized that further attendances at fires would be safeguarded by the removal of the decoration on his upper lip, so last week, armed with a viciously-sharpened razor, an extra quantity of shaving soap, and a deputy health inspector, the building inspector did away with the growth.

With the passing of Mr. Weiland's moustache, Elmer Scott, deputy clerk, becomes the sole survivor of a great race. Theodore Sanders, deputy health inspector, made away with his several months ago, and the present inhabitants of the council chambers, where moustaches of every density, length and color, used to abound, are all clean shaven.

Chicago's Public Schools Facing Shortage Of Coal

RESCUE POOL EXPECTED TO GET APPROVAL

Cooperation of City Council With Strawn Group Is Thought Certain

Chicago—(P)—Dwindling coal bins in the public schools kindled interest anew today in Chicago's empty money bags.

As some city officials frowned upon the rescue pool of $20,000,000 pledged to the Strawn group, H. Wallace Caldwell, president of the board of education, prepared to ask the boards coal dealers to continue deliveries of coal despite the lack of cash and a present unpaid coal bill of $450,000.

There will be a respite until Wednesday. On that day, Strawn will confer with the city council finance committee relative to setting in motion the financial pool pledged to aid the city governments.

Originally set at $50,000,000, the pool has $20,000,000 in pledges from business and industrial interests to be used in loans on tax anticipation warrants. No money will be loaned any of the governments, Strawn asserted, unless cooperation is pledged to reduce operating expenses to a minimum. And the committee has reserved the right to indicate for what purposes the money shall be spent.

THOMPSON OPPOSED
While Mayor William H. Thompson was still at loggerheads with the Strawn plan to relieve the city's financial straits, Chairman John S. Clark of the council finance committee, said he believed the council would pledge the requested cooperation.

"There is no alternative," he declared. "The banks will loan no money, and the Strawn committee holds the only purse strings available."

Officials of the Cook-co board and the Chicago Sanitary district also indicated cooperation with the Strawn plan.

President Caldwell of the board of education, presented a new plan—a committee to supervise expenditure of the $20,000,000 raised by the rescue committee.

As chairman of the committee, Caldwell suggested James Simpson, president of Marshall Field and Co., Albert Simpson is a member of the Strawn committee. Other members would include Caldwell, Howard E. Moore, head of the sanitary district, Anton Gernak, president of the county board, and Alderman Clark.

Caldwell said his plan was favorable to Mayor Thompson and to board of education officials. "The public officials will never get together with Strawn," Caldwell said. "They will not stand for creating a lack of confidence in the elected officials. I question whether Strawn is the right man to be directing his committee and some of its members believe there is graft and corruption among the public bodies. All those things prevent cooperation."

DEBT IS GROWING
Each day places the local governments deeper in debt. Already, $230,000,000 indebtedness has accrued in 1929 and 1930. The interest on these amounts to $30,000 daily.

Teachers, policemen and nurses are behind a month's pay; the mother's pension fund is exhausted and the municipal tuberculosis sanatorium is in want.

If the Strawn pool is expended, it can only bring temporary relief, city officials pointed out. They said every effort must be exerted to complete the reassessment by April 1 so that the 1933 tax bill can be mailed.

This can be done if there is no further political interfering and stalling. William H. Malone, chairman of the state tax commission in charge of the reassessment, said yesterday.

NEOPT INDIAN GETS 3 YEARS FOR STEALING

Jonny Denney, 13, Menominee Indian residing at Neopit, was sentenced to from two to three years to Green Bay Reformatory by Judge Byron B. Hunt, when he pleaded guilty to stealing 17 chickens from the Smith Gunderson farm, Matteson, and a prize turkey, two ducks and a rooster from the Lester Burgess farm, also in the town of Matteson, in circuit court, Waupaca, Monday morning.

Paul Backes, 33, Neopit who was arrested with Denney on Jan. 9, is being held in Waupaca-co jail for implication in the theft. Denney, however, testified Monday morning that Backes was not with him on the night of the theft.

Judge Park stated Monday that he doubted Denney's story and gave the latter until next Monday to change or confirm his original story exonerating Backes.

SPAGHETTI PLACE IS RAIDED IN MILWAUKEE

Milwaukee—(P)—Jefferson Inn, popular "third ward" spaghetti place, was visited by federal raiders early Sunday. They nabbed six dancing couples and persons around the bar and found beer, moonshine and what they called "good whiskey". The proprietor and two women waitresses at a Seventh-st. were arrested.

Continuing on their search for liquor, the agents raided a State-st. locked liquor emporium where 20 gallons of liquor was found. The proprietor and two women waitresses at a Seventh-st. were arrested.

PLACE PATIENTS IN SANATORIUM ADDITION

Eight patients at the Riverview sanatorium at Little Chute were removed into the new addition last week, according to John E. Hant, school county clerk.

The addition, built at a cost of more than $75,000, doubles the capacity of the county institution.

Workmen are still putting the finishing touches on the building and work of remodeling the old section of the building to make it conform with the addition has started. This work will be completed within a month and the county building committee will then inspect the entire structure before finally accepting it.

The reservoir, built to furnish a water supply for fighting fires, has been completed with the exception of pipe lines which will be laid early in spring. The reservoir draws its supply of water through an intake in the center of the Fox river.

Develop New Light Device For Aiding Rescue At Sea

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
New York—(P)—Some of the blind helplessness of life boats at sea at night is likely to be relieved.

The army, the navy, the steamship inspection service of the department of commerce and the coast guard have under development a device to that end.

With it a man can carry in his coat pocket the equivalent of a standard flashlight, 200 feet high with a light of 50,000 candle power, with which to signal for help or guide rescue vessels.

The device resembles a big .45-caliber pistol, although its barrel is a little larger. It fires like a pistol and projects upward 200 feet or more a projectile about the size of a big cannon cracker. This bursts and releases a 50,000 candlepower flare suspended from a parachute.

The suspended light burns 30 seconds, and the pistol is designed to be reloaded with one hand so that any desired succession of lights or even a code of signals can be sent aloft.

Waves washing over the lifeboat or water swamping it have no effect on the reliability of the pistol. Its ammunition has been stored in salt water for more than 24 hours without effect.

This marine flare is a development of the airplane signal system developed by Maj. Henry B. Faber, Capt. L. L. Driggs, Jr., and the International Flare-Signal Company of Tippecanoe City, Ohio. Major Faber

Kimberly-Clark Corporation Finances Addition to Kimberly School

A way for Holy Name Catholic congregation at Kimberly to work its way out of $40,000 debt that has been hanging over it for years and at the same time obtain a needed addition to its school was announced Sunday by the pastor, the Rev. Louis Oeffel, when he said that the Kimberly-Clark Corporation had offered to give a sum of money over a period of years to finance an addition to the parish school if members of the congregation will do their utmost to retire the indebtedness.

The Holy Name parish school, built about 20 years ago, has an enrollment in the neighborhood of 450 pupils and the school building is entirely inadequate to take care of that many children, but the congregation is in no financial position to make the required enlargement. The contribution of the Kimberly-Clark Corporation will make possible an immediate addition to the school so that there will be sufficient facilities at the start of the next term in September.

But it was explained, contributions in succeeding years will be dependent entirely upon the congregation raising a fixed amount, in addition to operating expenses of the parish, to retire the debt and pay the interest.

Four rooms of the new school were built two years ago and plans were outlined for construction of eight more rooms later on. It is thought that the pending project now may be completed next spring. After the new school is completed the old building will be used for a meeting hall.

Monday evening the assessment plan will be worked out by the church board. Each family will receive its assessments card this week. The old school building was used at first for a church on the second floor and school on the first floor. In 1914 the present church was built and both floors were used for school. In 1928 the children were so crowded that the new addition was started.

The church board will meet Monday afternoon at the parsonage with the architect to make plans for remodeling the parish house. More room is necessary for an assistant priest which the parish will secure soon.

PAROLE LARABEE MAN TO BOARD OF CONTROL

Wallace Pace, 29, Larabee, was paroled to the state board of control for two years Monday morning in circuit court, Waupaca, when he pleaded guilty to abandonment of his wife and children before Judge Byron B. Park. The judge first sentenced Pace from two to three years to the Green Bay Reformatory, but suspended sentence.

GIRL BANDIT, TWO MEN GET $10,000 IN GEMS
Buffalo, N. Y.—(P)—The blond-haired girl bandit, principal figure in several robberies in Buffalo recently, led two young gunmen into the jewelry store of David Gluckstein on Broadway, shortly before noon today, bound and gagged Gluckstein and escaped with gems valued at $10,000.

The observers stood 15 feet above the water line, representing the height of the deck of a rescue ship. Sixteen miles away they saw the parachute light signals rise above the curvature of the earth, which had shut out the lifeboat torch now in use at six miles.

Both red and white flares showed distinctly. Major Faber says he believes the signals will be visible considerably beyond 15 miles, but none yet has been tested farther.

Sixteen miles means a circle 32 miles in diameter in which a rescue ship can see the parachute lights.

Visibility tests now are going on off New York harbor under winter conditions. The latest was made in a fog which swallowed up the white light of a lighthouse having a 45,000 candle power light, so that at less than three miles the naked eye could not see it.

A red parachute light on this same test showed four miles. Moreover, the red light was not nearly as powerful as the white beam, having only about one-fifth the candle power. It was one of the first demonstrations made under actual night fog conditions.

ROAD WORKERS ARE FINED FOR TAKING DIRT ON HIGHWAY
Albert Lau and William Goldsmith, Calumet-co highway workers, must pay $60 each for learning that a farmer's property runs to the middle of the highway. They removed 12 loads of clay from the highway embankment in front of the farm of John McEllen Clifton to fill in some cemetery lots. The damages were awarded in justice of the peace court before John P. Hume and a jury of four men Saturday morning at Chilton.

The plaintiff contended that, according to law, every property owner owns the highway fronting thereon to the center of the road, which is subject only to the right of travel by the public.

The unusual case, the first of its kind to be heard here, attracted much attention and the court room was crowded with farmers.

Jury Awards Man $1,100 For Loss Of Wife's Love

A jury in circuit court Saturday afternoon awarded Otto Sommers, New London, $1,100 damages from William Riese, Elsie Creek, on Sommers' charge that Riese alienated his former wife's affections. Judge Edward Voight, Manitowoc, presided at the trial which opened Wednesday and continued for four days.

Sommers charged that Riese's attentions to his former wife caused her to secure a divorce in circuit court last November. He also claimed the former Mrs. Sommers was enticed from her home and sent to Pennsylvania by Riese and $25 returned with a verdict which awarded Sommers $100 actual damages and $1,000 punitive damages.

Both Riese and the former Mrs. Sommers denied there was anything more than friendship in their relations. Mrs. Sommers claimed she secured a divorce because of Sommers' cruel and inhuman treatment.

Neighbors of the Sommers testified that they had seen Riese visit the Sommers' home during Mr. Sommers' absence. Riese said he had been invited to stop there by Mr. Sommers whenever he wanted to.

MANY DEMOCRATS MAY BE BARRED AS CANDIDATES

Tallahassee, Fla.—(P)—Attorney General Fred H. Davis declared in an opinion made public today that provisions of the state election laws, if interpreted and enforced literally, would bar as candidates for office in the approaching Florida primary all Democrats who supported Herbert Hoover in the last presidential election.

The attorney general pointed out that a primary candidate is required to swear, among other things, that he did not vote for any nominee of any other party, nation, state or country, at the last general election. This means, Mr. Davis explained, that Democratic candidates for nomination in the June primary will have to sign a sworn statement that they did not vote for any member of any other party in the last general election. Republican candidates will have to take the same oath.

"I do not presume to say what legal effect the above quoted section of the law will have insofar as the June primary is concerned," he added. "If the oath is to be construed as meaning what it literally says, no person can become a candidate for office in the next primary who voted a split ticket at the last general election."

"I merely have preference to what the oath says and will leave its legal effect to be threshed out in the court," he added.

CLEVELAND MAN WOULD GO AROUND WORLD IN 10 DAYS

Manufacturer Hopes to Encircle Globe in Record Time in Plane

Cleveland—(P)—A modern Jules Verne steps forward to encircle the world in 10 days by airplane.

The Jules Verne of another day pictured man girdling the world in 45 days; Mears and Collier completed their globe tour in less than 24 days; Harry A. Husted, Cleveland manufacturer, hopes to pale wild fancy and solid achievement.

Husted, arranging changes in the Fokker F-32 he has ordered for the trip, plans to leave the west coast Jan. 15, off the beaten track over boldly projected routes.

The flight over the Pacific may be non-stop, with a refueling over the Hawaiian islands and first stop in China. He then will fly northward through Siberia heading for Moscow, Paris, England, New York and the west.

"Newer developments in multi-motored airplanes, in the manufacture of fuel and oil, and in refueling," he said, "will make ocean hops in heavier-than-air craft regular ventures in the future."

James Doles of Western Air Express will be chief pilot. There will be plenty for the crew of four to do besides operating the ship. Husted will have maps to check the layout of strange countries. In the nose of the fuselage will be still and motion picture cameras, half-tone and colored, and over every inch of the way he hopes to keep them clicking.

These will be the first pictures of a world-girdling flight and, because of their educational value, several hundred thousand feet of them will be given to the bureau of education in Washington.

There will also be "household duties." Husted will be the cook. He can cook everything, he said, except pies.

As he walks around each of the four Pratt and Whitney Wasps will permit overhauling of motors in flight. The engines will be mounted in two tandems.

The fuel and oil will be of special type and the plane, which will weigh 12,500 pounds, will be able to carry 15,000 pounds of fuel. Between 60 and 88 gallons an hour is the anticipated gasoline consumption.

MORE SNOW, COLDER WEATHER PREDICTED
Ideal winter weather prevailed in this vicinity over the weekend, marked with clear skies and a moderate cold wave which kept the mercury down around 5 degrees below zero. At 6 o'clock Sunday morning the mercury registered 11 degrees below zero, while at noon it stood at 5 degrees below.

Snow with another drop in the mercury is on the weather menu for this vicinity for the next 24 hours, according to the weatherman. Winds are shifting in the west to southwest. Similar predictions have been circulated throughout the middlewest for the next 24 hours.

At 6 o'clock Monday morning the mercury registered 3 degrees below zero, while at noon the mercury registered 10 degrees above.

FORMER BASKETBALL STAR HURT IN CRASH

Milwaukee—(P)—Ralph Merkle, 24, co-captain with Rollie Barnum of the University of Wisconsin basketball team of 1925-27, was seriously injured yesterday when the automobile he was driving collided with that of Edward Stort, 27, resident at the Elks club. Merkle suffered a possible fractured skull, and severe cuts and bruises. Stort was also badly hurt. Merkle's home is in Chicago, but he had been visiting here.

The fire started in the basement and worked its way up the elevator shaft to the fourth floor, spreading out on all floors. The building is located at the corner of Thames-st. and Washington square.

Three firemen were injured. One of them, Charles Eldridge, had a remarkable escape from death after he fell two stories into a water filled elevator well in the cellar of the building. The water, rushing from the cellar to the street through a sidewalk grating carried Eldridge to the grating where firemen pulled him out. He was taken to a hospital in a serious condition.

sign privilege of possessing a navy of any size could not be abridged except voluntarily. This, in effect, would do away with any fixed ratio understanding such as was laid down in the Washington treaty. Then, in the body of the treaty, each power would stipulate the outside limits on its building needs between now and the conference of 1936 when the whole situation is expected to come under review again in conformity with the agreement reached at Washington.

STAND DOUBTFUL
Whether application of this general formula to the Italian situation would be supplemented by a security pact covering the Mediterranean, as has been suggested by France remains for future determination. A spokesman for the American delegation said today there had been no discussion whether the United States would be willing to join such a pact in a consultative capacity.

Today's Downing-st. meeting of the Big Five was the longest yet held. The delegation heads discussed a detailed proposal for the conference program which would lay down limitations for each specific class of warship, but would defer to French views by allowing a certain percentage of total tonnage to be diverted from one class to another.

Announcement of cancellation of work on the British cruisers Surrey, Northumberland was made by the admiralty without explanation. These are the two ships on which Prime Minister MacDonald suspended work shortly before his visit to the United States last year. The absence of official comment on today's announcement was taken as further evidence of Great Britain's faith that some agreement would be reached during the present negotiations.

BUILD SMALL SHIPS
The Surrey and Northumberland were to have been 10,000 ton vessels. The inference was that Great Britain saw the way to an agreement where she will need only her present strength in this largest class of cruisers, leaving the remainder of her total tonnage to

COUNCIL SPLIT ON INSTALLMENT PLAN OF PAYING TAXES

Believe Proposal Recommending Such Action Will Be Offered Council

A resolution advocating the payment of taxes on the installment plan, understood to be coming up for discussion at the next meeting of the common council, finds little favor with several aldermen.

A recent state law makes it possible for cities to collect the annual taxes in two sections, thereby alleviating the drain on the taxpayer the first part of the year. Wherever this practice is in effect the usual procedure is to collect at the regular time and a second time in July or August.

Alderman C. D. Thompson, commenting on the proposed resolution, said that in his opinion he couldn't see how such plan for Appleton could be possible.

State and county taxes must be paid in full in March, he said, and if all the money collected on the first installment must be used to meet these taxes there would be no money left to run the city until the next collection. This would necessitate borrowing money for city operation until July or August, which would entail paying interest. Further, besides burdening the city with interest on the money borrowed, it would deprive the city of the two per cent interest the tax money would be earning until it was used. If the taxpayer were willing to pay the interest money that would be lost to the city the plan might be feasible but there is a question in my mind as to the willingness of the taxpayers.

Mr. Thompson pointed out the double cost of tax collection on the installment plan, but stated that if the county would adopt the same plan the matter might be possible for the city.

CANT SEE ADVANTAGE

Alderman Richard Reffke declared that with the city's financial situation in its present precarious state, he could see no advantage in the proposal, stating that the city could not afford to borrow any more money. He referred to the action of the council in refusing to allow the property holders on College avenue an extension of time to pay the special assessment on the governmental lighting system on the avenue and said that this matter probably would produce the same reaction.

Explaining that the matter had been discussed in a finance committee meeting on another occasion, Alderman George T. Richard said that the plan had too many arguments for and against it to permit him to make a snap judgment on the matter.

The request for an opinion from Mayor A. C. Pule brought the counter question: "With the city's loans at the present time amounting to $200,000, what would happen if only half the taxes were paid before March 1, when the state and county taxes must be paid?"

LEGION SEEKS TO CLEAN UP MEMBERSHIP

Almost 600 ex-service men have joined Oney Johnston post of the American legion, according to Leslie C. Smith, commander. A campaign to clean up membership and beat the 1929 mark was started Sunday with about eight veterans taking part in the drive. They picked up a number of memberships Sunday and are continuing activity in hopes of completing the campaign by the end of the month. A full roster for the local post would give it the largest membership in the state. The Appleton post now is competing with Electric Post, Milwaukee, and Fond du Lac for honors as the largest post.

ARMY RESERVES MEET AGAIN FRIDAY NIGHT

STAGE AND SCREEN

Marilyn Miller and Alexander Gray in "Sally," a four star offering.

"Sally" has come to the screen with Marilyn Miller, the original stage "Sally," as the star.

This First National and Vitaphone production, made entirely in color, opened last night at the Appleton theatre. Miss Miller's first picture is nothing less than a sensation. Without question it is the most dazzling and sumptuously beautiful production yet seen on any local screen—a picture to be long and happily remembered.

Miss Miller, known to all the world as the queen of musical comedy, is surrounded by an all-star cast which includes Alexander Gray, Joe L. Brown, Bert Kellor, T. Roy Barnes, Ford Sterling, Jack Duffy, E. J. Ratcliffe and Maude Turner Gordon—with a legion of other players and chorus girls, ballet girls, show girls and chorus men galore.

Scenically the picture sets a new screen record. The scenes in the gardens of the Long Island estate where much of the action of the story takes place are on a large scale of spaciousness and beauty quite unparalleled heretofore.

But the general bigness of the production has not been allowed to swamp the delightfully human qualities of the story. Director John Francis Dillon has skillfully seen to that. "Sally," you must recall, is the story of a little waitress in a New York restaurant who becomes a star of the Follies after many trials and disappointments—some of them funny, some very pathetic. This is the rule that brought Marilyn Miller her first great fame; and she has not forgotten how to play it.

The picture is one that you simply can't afford to miss. We'll go further—it is the picture of the season, and you should write it down right now at the top of your list of films to be seen.

The audience loved it. So did this reviewer. So will you.

VALLEY SPORTSMEN TO MEET JAN. 29

Will Organize to Consider
Conservation Problems,
Save Wolf River

A point meeting of Fox river valley sportsmen will be held Wednesday evening at Oshkosh, according to invitations being sent out by a committee named at a recent meeting of the Isaac Walton league of Oshkosh.

The meeting will be preceded by a dinner at 7 o'clock at the Silver Grill, after which the sportsmen will form a valley organization and elect officers. A number of important projects are now confronting valley sportsmen and it is believed organization of the men will bring about some solution.

Among the conservation leaders to be present will be William Mauthe, Fond du Lac, chairman of the state conservation commission, and State Senator L. W. White of Winneconne. One of the projects to be considered will be preservation of the scenic beauty of the Wolf river.

29 CASES OF DISEASE REPORTED IN COUNTY

Twenty-nine cases of disease were reported from Outagamie county during the week ending Jan. 18, according to a report received by Miss Marie Klein, county nurse, from the state department of health. Twenty-one of these cases were reported from Appleton as follows: mumps, 11; chicken pox 2; scarlet fever, 2; and whooping cough, 5. The town of Black Creek reported five cases of measles; Grand Chute reported one case of measles; New London, one case of chicken pox; and town of Seymour one case of diphtheria.

IMMENSE INCREASE IN CIRCULATION AT LIBRARY LAST YEAR

148,628 Books Sent Out
Over Counter During Past Year, Report Shows

The circulation of books from the public library showed a tremendous increase this year over last, figures in the annual report of Miss Florence Day, librarian, show. In 1928 148,628 books were sent out over the counter, and last year the number was over 180,000. Figures show that 178,896 books were circulated in the city and an estimate of the number sent into the country will bring the totals well over 160,000.

A total of 3,195 volumes were added during the year, 450 were drawn, leaving 31,625 books on the library shelves at the end of December. Of this number 23,450 are adult books, and 7,175 for children.

New borrowers registered during the year numbered 2,454 of which 1,655 were in the adult department and 799 in the children's room. Cancellations aggregated 2,301 transfers from the children's to the adult department, 200, bringing the total number of registrations in the adult department up to 7,429 and in the children's section 2,971. The annual report shows 675 county borrowers and 45 who live outside the county.

6 CASES LISTED FOR COUNTY COURT HEARING

Six cases are listed for hearing at a special term of Outagamie county court at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning before Judge Fred V. Hennemann at the courthouse. Cases on the calendar are: hearing on petition for administration in the estate of Marie Kadke, Sr., hearing on proof of will in the estate of Henry Row; hearing on claims in the estate of Maria Reuter, Ray Hammei and Mary Cotter; hearing on final account in the estate of Bertha Brandenberg.

Talks To Parents

MODEL CHILDREN
By Alice Judson Peale

One of the illusions to which parents are subject is the feeling that while of course their own children are the best on earth, the youngsters in that family around the corner are really model children.

To most mothers their own children are wholly dear and lovable, but alas! now and then a little dim light.

They sigh for those beautifully behaved children that occasionally come to the house, the children who are polite in speech, whose table manners are positively dainty, who never slam doors and who never cry towels about the bathroom.

They forget that these children in their own homes are not as so perfect and that they probably took their mothers by their own particular set of faults.

Model children exist chiefly in the imagination of mothers. Those rare cases of children who are always polite, truthful, unselfish and noiseless, are to my mind occasions to fear for the future.

Either such children are lacking in vitality or intelligence and never will amount to much, or they are accumulating all sorts of troubles beneath the smooth and pleasant surface.

The point is, of course, that vigorous, healthy, wide-awake youngsters cannot possibly behave always in such manner as to be agreeable to adults. The very needs of their growth are inconvenient for grown up comfort.

As long as they are learning new things every day, as long as they are having an active good time, as long as for the most part they are trying to be good, we should be reconciled to our less than model children.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified croscote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs croscote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to croscote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the croscote goes on to the stomach, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

FEARING FOR THE CLASSICS

The National association of Book Publishers is worried about the fate of the literary masterpieces of the past. They find that current best sellers are crowding out the classics. They fear that the day is not far away when such books as "Pilgrim's Progress" and Shakespeare's works will be found only in the libraries of colleges and will be read only by college students at the stern command of professors. Says one publisher: "We are speeding up literary progress all right. It is on the trot. But I am afraid it may be carried too far. I am not sure the cry for something new is not becoming a menace. The flood of latest offerings, bountifully advertised, pampered by book clubs and boomed by literary critics, may swamp everything else."

The reference to the book clubs may explain much of the publishers' anxiety. The latter are rarely enthusiastic about the book clubs. But there are other persons than publishers worried about the reading trend. Is their alarm justified? It is hard to say. There has been a lot of trashy and ephemeral stuff published all through the years. The classics so tenderly regarded by the publishers had contemporaries that have long since vanished. If they outlived the trifles of their own periods, they may perhaps be trusted to outlive the trifles that seem to be overwhelming them now.

One may question also whether fewer people read the classics now than in the past. Formerly a lot of people did not read anything at all. Nowadays so many more people are reading that it seems to make the classics take a back seat, whereas they may be as much read and appreciated by the intelligent and discriminating as ever before. In fact, we think they are.

A BOOST FOR POETRY

The Chicago Foundation of Literature is going to develop American fiction, drama and poetry—especially poetry—or bust a pumper. It has real money to use in "Aiding, fostering, promoting, developing and encouraging meritorious work by American writers." And it proposes to spend $25,000 a year on poetry prizes.

This ought to boom the paper, fountain pen and typewriter industries, if nothing more. You can buy a lot of poetry for $25,000. In fact, as every newspaper and magazine knows, you can buy a lot of poetry for nothing. There are even poets willing to pay for getting their poems printed. With such inducements offered, quantity production of verse is assured. Some poetical genius starving in a garret—or living in a garage, which is more in the modern manner—may be encouraged. New Keates and Chattertons and Verlaines and Heines and Poes may be discovered. But newspaper folk are naturally cynical about such matters. Some editors are mean enough to maintain that poetry should be discouraged, and it would be better to pay young poets to refrain from writing. There is something to be said for this attitude, too, on the old theory that genius will break through and make good in spite of obstacles.

AIR MAIL GROWS

The air mail transport, while growing rapidly, is still limited in scope. Postmaster-general Brown wants congress to authorize a big extension of the service. He would permit the carrying of mail bags on passenger planes as well as regular mail planes, and thus extend the service to every part of the country. It is estimated that by this policy the air mail routes, which now cover about 14,000 miles, would immediately jump to 40,000 miles.

This looks like sound policy, benefiting not only the mail service but the aviation industry and business in general. With more air carriers, the air mail could be routed better and delivered quicker. There should be growth in volume, swelling postal receipts to meet the cost before long, and a quickening of the business pulse.

TOO MUCH NEW YORK

Alister MacDonald, architect and son of the British prime minister, visiting the United States, refused to go into ecstasies over our metropolis. New York, he says, "is an awesome place, with skyscrapers blotting out the light and creating transportation problems." He is glad to find that New York is not America. He is a little worried, though, about other cities, with their rivalry of metropolitan architecture. "I believe," he says, "that in time your skyscrapers are going to blot out humanity, if you are not careful. It is time you're erecting some low buildings."

He might have added that the structure which by the common judgment of the world is considered most beautiful and perfect, the Parthenon at Athens, was a comparatively low building of one story. It is as futile trying to reach heaven with Towers of Babel in America as it was of old on the plains of Shinar.

An occasional skyscraper is all right. It makes a good landmark and gives citizens something to brag about, and people in the upper stories have a fine view. But when many skyscrapers are built, even the view is lost. All that remains is a picturesque skyline visible from the suburbs. Even a skyscraper city like New York is probably all right—as long as it remains a unique spectacle. But why should other cities try to imitate it, when by spreading out they can avoid its inconveniences, discomforts and traffic problems?

SENATORIAL CONTRIBUTIONS

Senator King, Democrat, Utah, denies that he accepted a contribution from one H. A. Metz, New York dye importer, in either the 1922 or 1928 elections. Testimony before the senate lobby committee was to the effect that Metz had contributed $1000 to King's campaign funds in 1922 and had sent him a check for the same amount in 1928.

Senator King did not deny that he had received the check referred to, but exhibited a portion of it as evidence that he had destroyed it and not cashed it. His former secretary testified that the contribution of $1000 in 1922 had been received by the senator's brother and campaign manager, and that the senator had been advised that Metz had contributed to the fund.

In the absence of further proof it is one man's word against another, but admitted receipt in 1928 of a check for $1000 lends color to the allegation of a prior contribution. Whatever the facts, it must be admitted that a rather close relationship is revealed between the senator and the dye interests. It is not unlike the relationship between Senator Bingham of Connecticut and the textile industries, from all of which the conclusion is inescapable that many of the protected interests, as well as others seeking special favors from congress, succeed in getting very close to their objects of conquest, and that in the whole field of legislation there is a very intimate and influential contact between those who seek or oppose legislation and those who enact it.

Lobbying, direct and indirect, is a great business in the national capital, and it permeates the politics of the entire country. At best it is a one-sided situation in which the interests of the public and of the consumer obtain a minimum of consideration.

MORE GOOD WILL NEEDED

For the present, the arms conference at London seems lost in a maze of figures, swamped by statistics, deluged by words. The elaborate calculations of naval experts are probably necessary, but the public has little interest in them. It does not follow the detailed estimates and comparisons of tonnage, gunbore, range, weight of projectile, metal, armor, etc. It sees the human rather than the material factors.

War offensives start in human hearts. There is a feeling among the people at home that the defense of a nation also starts in human hearts, that the best defensive weapon in the world is good will, and that diplomats in their negotiations have never yet realized the full value of this weapon.

According to estimates of the American Federation for the Blind one person in every 1,000 of average population is blind.

Only one out of every 20 persons in the United States has a bath tub, according to Prof. Stanley A. Smith, of Washington State College.

According to the 1920 census South Carolina and Mississippi both had a larger negro than white population.

The republic of Turkey abolished the fez as a part of the national costume and adopted a new hat in its stead.

The Post-Mortem

"Temperatures in Central Wisconsin," said Saturday's paper, "are expected to hit 8 below by church time."

So that gives us a real weather advantage over you good people—we slept all Sunday morning.

Yeah, and wait until the C. E. sees this

Did you hear the story about Harold the Seer laid on the city editor's desk? The C. E. recognized it as a carbon copy of the one he'd thrown into the basket about this time in 1929. When he asked the Seer how come, latter said, "Oh, you've had a year's experience since you threw the first one away."

I am fit—capable to a certain degree, have a fair education and the ability to make use of it, but I have been restless—not mentally but physically. I have always craved action, speed, excitement, the thrill of the game, the matching of wits, the battle of muscle against muscle, of bone against bone—and after it all, the satisfying glow of complete relaxation.

But now that physical craving is slowly being supplanted by the mental. I still thrill to every game—I love them all—but the physical desire for contact it slowly dying out. I am ready to settle down to turn that energy into better and more useful channels. In other words—I have lost my first battle with Father Time.

Uncle Wiggly Falls Into a Quandry

A Shorter Short Story

Lipperty-lip over the Green Meadows went Uncle Wiggly, looking for a warm place to sit down. But he should have known better than that. At any rate he soon found himself in a quandry. It was a peculiar quandry, with steep sides and a tin cover.

"I wonder," Uncle Wiggly asked himself, "if there are any ham sandwiches in this place?"

The walls echoed his words. Uncle Wiggly frowned.

"Don't you know it isn't polite to mock?" he said reprovingly.

And this being Sunday morning, and we being very sleepy, well—all we can remember is that Uncle Wiggly decided he was in a fine pickle.

And then he ate it.

Today's Anniversary

MOZART'S BIRTH

On Jan. 27, 1756, Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart, renowned German composer, was born at Salzburg, Austria.

It is doubtful if a more brilliant child prodigy existed before Mozart. At the age of 6 he had composed several minuets and at 8 had become so proficient a performer on the piano that he made a concert tour of the leading capitals of Europe. Everywhere he was royally received. When he reached the age of 12, Mozart conducted in Vienna a solemn mass of his own composition.

While Mozart was spared the miserly existence that characterized the tragic life of Franz Schubert, he was obliged to struggle for subsistence. This, together with repeated hostile sallies from jealous politicians in Italy, made his life an unhappy one.

The circumstances surrounding the writing of his Requiem are familiar in history. Feeling he would not live long enough to complete the score, he left instructions for its completion with a pupil. The night before he died he summoned his favorite servant to his bedside and had the Requiem sung. When the "Lacrimosa" was reached the dying composer burst into tears and closed the score.

LOOKING BACKWARD

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Mrs. Thomas Walsh had returned from Ludington, Mich., and Milwaukee where she spent two weeks.

Mrs. Ellen Balliet entertained 11 friends the previous Saturday afternoon at the home of her son, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Balliet, 557 Oak.

In honor of her son's birthday anniversary, Mrs. Dora Ingrid, of Colfax, was the guest of her social affairs on Green Bay the previous evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Burmeister, 865 Madison, entertained a group of friends at the home the previous Sunday evening in honor of Mr. Burmeister's birthday anniversary.

Time for "Disarmament" Here, Too!

A BYSTANDER IN WASHINGTON

BY HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington—There's a group of young women in the tiny little village of Vienna, Ga., who look forward eagerly each year to the time when congress adjourns.

They comprise a Sunday school class at the Baptist church. Their teacher is the junior United States senator from Georgia, Walter F. George. Whenever Senator George returns to Vienna he meets with his group of girls on Sunday morning.

When he left Georgia to come to the senate seven years ago, he announced that he liked teaching a Sunday school class so well that he hoped he would be able to do so in Washington. However, the senator has not found a class in the capital.

Only when he returns to his little home village of 2,000 people is he able to impart Biblical instruction to the young.

CHIVALROUS

The tall, dark-haired, dignified Georgian is distinguished from his colleagues in other ways than being a Sabbath school teacher. He is also the only United States senator to ever succeed a woman.

Seven years ago he stood aside in the senate chamber while Mrs. Rebecca Latimer Felton was sworn in as his predecessor and proclaimed the first woman senator. It was an act of chivalry on George's part. The Felton appointment was merely a compliment. Mrs. Felton was an active senator for only 22 hours.

Few men have come to the senate as little known at first as was Senator George. He was a small town lawyer and probably had never made more than a dozen political speeches in his life before he entered the race.

Born of poor parents of the small farmer class in Georgia, he worked his way through college and law school and had risen to a seat on the Georgia supreme court bench by the time he had reached his early forties. He had resigned as justice and was practicing law in Vienna when he ran for the senate and was elected.

AND SERIOUS

The man's outstanding characteristic is his seriousness. One of his closest friends says:

"I doubt if he ever told an anecdote, or figured in many worth the telling."

Yet George is thoroughly human—in his own quiet way.

When he makes a speech in the senate his style is reminiscent of the classic writings on common law. The United States supreme court once quoted from a speech of his in a decision.

His physical presence is striking and his speaking voice—soft and thoroughly southern—is pleasing. Personally he is one of the most retiring men in the senate. He is inclined to be more studious than anything.

His philosophies of politics and public service are well developed and clearly defined.

Georgia thought enough of him to support him for the presidency at the democratic national convention in Houston last year.

IMMUNITY IN TUBERCULOSIS

When we speak of immunity we don't mean resistance. When we speak of resistance we don't know what we mean. So we'll confine our discussion to immunity—until some one comes along with a reasonable conception of the meaning of resistance, if there is such a condition or state. And when I say some one with a reasonable conception I don't mean anybody who cherishes a pet notion or a pat phrase.

Every disease in which or to which immunity is possible or recognized confers its own special or specific immunity upon the host. So far as we know, this is the only way one can acquire or develop immunity against any disease—having the disease or at least a trial size sample of it. Nowadays science can furnish a trial sample of typhoid fever, diphtheria, smallpox or what would you escape. The trouble is to make people appreciate the wisdom of taking samples. According to official statistics there were only 25,000 cases of smallpox in the registration area of the United States last year, although there were 900,000 feeble minded persons in the registration area (covering approximately nine-tenths of the population). So it is clear we are making great progress, at least in the prevention of smallpox.

Tuberculin tests indisputably prove that most of us are infected with tuberculosis in infancy or early childhood, and ordinary observation shows that most of us acquire from this childhood infection a certain degree of immunity, sufficient to protect us against ordinary infections.

Which we are subsequently exposed to. This childhood infection is seldom recognized as tuberculosis; indeed, in many cases it is not recognized at all at the time it happens—the sample is so small that the host isn't aware of it. No symptoms or signs are produced. It is just like taking T.A.—toxin antitoxin for immunization against diphtheria: in most cases this gives no symptoms or signs of disturbance.

In tuberculosis it is important to keep in mind the fact that immunity is always only relative, never absolute. That is, the childhood infection gives one a certain degree of immunity, but by no means complete immunity against further infection. And so it is that in most instances, tuberculosis is insidious in onset and chronic in course. It begins gradually, insensitively, the infection has conferred a certain degree of immunity which gives some protection against further infection, but the immunity response is not quite sufficient to annihilate all the germs that gained entrance at the first infection. Some of the germs remain alive, perhaps dormant and wait until some jump rope or other trigger starts them going again.

A Bucket of Blood
I know that about one-twentieth of the body weight is blood, so that a person weighing 140 pounds has 7 pounds of blood in his body. But I am anxious to learn how many quarts of blood in the body.—(R. C.)

Answer—A gallon or so—four quarts.

In Old Arizona
We are moving to Arizona. We have five children. There is danger of snake bites, scorpion and tarantula stings. Please tell us how to give first aid for these. (R. W. C.)

Answer—Carry of keep on hand a dose of snake bite serum. It is now available through any druggist. It is prepared by the American Anti-Venom Institute, Glenolden, Pa. This is part of the biological department of the Mulford Company. Scorpion stings or tarantula bites are minor emergencies; treat them as you would ordinary wounds.

The Nerve of the Nerve Specialist
Please recommend a good nerve specialist. Our doctor says my wife has neuritis. Everything she eats seems to produce gas. (L. W. A.)

Answer—There is no such specialist. There are plenty of bad cases, but I can't recommend a bad doctor. Your doctor was trying to assure you that there is no organic cause for the wife's trouble. If a mental specialist, a psychiatrist, is likely to be helpful, your doctor should refer you to a good one. I merely offer you a friendly warning to beware of the nerve specialist bank.

"A. B. C." Is Not So Easy

A trite phrase, this "As Easy as A. B. C.," used for generations to denote simplicity. Yet, give a meaning to these noted initials and we find the statement errs. A. B. C. loses its simplicity when it comes to stand for Audit Bureau of Circulation. To us, A. B. C. denotes a comprehensive, impartial organization whose business is to check upon the circulation of nearly every important publication in the United States. Your newspaper, the Post-Crescent, is a member of this important service. In our ad-talk today we shall attempt to bring out the real significance of this Bureau, both to you and to the makers and sellers of the commodities and services you use.

You Don't Have to Believe Us

The Audit Bureau of Circulation has for its sole purpose that of presenting an independent audit of the distribution of every member. As in the case of the check upon any publisher, the Post-Crescent's only function is to lay itself open for inspection.

When we tell you of a circulation of 15,000 and more we are repeating what the A. B. C., after a thorough study, has told us. Our circulation figures are not fairy tales told you in the soft glow of an early evening with the naive hope that you will believe us bigger than we really are. They are, to be frank, very cold facts. Misrepresentation means suspension from A. B. C.

In a word, the teacher has made out our report card in indelible ink, and we bring it home for you to approve. The Post-Crescent has shown an outstandingly good report card, one of which we are particularly proud — for it is the best one presented by ANY newspaper in the United States to a locality of comparative size. Our next report comes to you in April, watch for it.

The A. B. C. Works Accurately

An A. B. C. representative comes to Appleton and sets to work in the Post-Crescent offices. In the manner of all good accountants he goes over our circulation records and receipts, he checks our mailing list. Finally, after investigating and comparing all records, he examines the receipts for news print—those great rolls of paper on which your Post-Crescent is printed — and learn to the pound just how much paper we have used in a year. Then, by dividing the actual number of issue-pages into the amount of paper used, he has another check on our circulation. He presents, on completing his work, an undeniably accurate account of Post-Crescent circulation.

By gladly turning over our circulation records to this accounting we have shown you the true size and importance of the audience of which you are a part, and we have a demonstrated our faith. For those who make or sell commodities to you, we are showing exactly just how far their messages are carried and to whom. By this accurate check we may charge fairly for advertising, by it also, we are able to maintain subscription rates at the lowest possible figure.

"As easy as A. B. C." — no longer true when we consider the newspaper field, yet those key letters have taken on a far greater significance. Can every publication you read prove its claims for circulation? An Audit Bureau of Circulation report is an assurance of good faith which cannot easily be overlooked.

"... Our circulation figures are not fairy tales told you in the soft glow of an early evening with the naive hope that you will believe us bigger than we really are ..."

INITIATION of candidates will take place at the meeting of the Order of Moose at 8 o'clock Tuesday night at Moose temple. Arrangements are being made to bring the Oshkosh drill team to Appleton to assist the local degree staff. The lodge officers will meet at 7:30 to take care of all necessary business. A series of boxing matches will begin about 9 o'clock, after the initiation ceremonies have been concluded. Members are invited to bring their friends for the matches. About 100 members were present at the last boxing card.

Arrangements are complete for the "get-together" party of the Moose and the Women of Moose temple. It is to be held Thursday night at the hall. Supper will be served at 6:30. Norton Williams, Neenah, will be the speaker of the evening. A program of novelty stunts has been planned and the Kaukauna Moose old time orchestra will provide music for dancing. The Kaukauna prize-winning jazz band will be in attendance.

Cards will be played after the supper and cash prizes will be awarded. Friends of Order of Moose are invited. Each member of the lodge is to bring a hot covered dish for the supper. The committee, in charge includes Mrs. Theresa Lettich, Mrs. Hattie Natchrop, Mrs. Hazel Ulrich, Mrs. Evelyn Kreutzer, Anton Ulrich, Anton Natchrop, Lawrence McGillan, Fred Zuehlke, and Phil Kreutzer.

A charity dance will be given in the near future for the benefit of the erection of a boys' village at Mooseheart, Ill. Lodges in all parts of the United States are sponsoring these dances to help swell the fund. The fourth division of this village is expected to help relieve the congested condition of other buildings at the child city.

There will be a card party at 8 o'clock Friday night at the hall. Schafkopf, skat and bridge will be played.

MISS STALLMAN LEADS MEETING OF CHURCH GROUP

Miss Evelyn Stallman, chairman of the Devotional commission, was the leader at the meeting of the Young People's Union Sunday night at the church. The worship program was divided into four parts. The first was entitled Happy New Year, and the second was the Secret of Happiness. Miss Gwendolyn Vandawarka gave a reading, "Mourning Max." Making the World Happy and Pleading God were the third and fourth divisions of the service. Harold Edsall read a selection, "Prayer to Please Jesus." Nineteen members were present.

A sleighride party will entertain the members at 7:30 Friday evening. The ride will last two hours after which the members will return to the church for refreshments. Gerald Stallman will be in charge of arrangements. The Star League will meet at 7:30 Saturday night at First Baptist church. Election of officers will take place at this time.

Smart and Very French

BY ANNEBELLE WORTHINGTON
It's very French! The new sheerness at neckline in attractively shaped yoke of white net with crystal beading, makes this black canton crepe outstandingly smart.

It rather suggests Princesses allouette with its moulded bodice and graceful flaring hemline, that dips at back because it is so important for afternoons. The skirt is cleverly cut with circular flounce starting at either side of front with a circular godet inserted at center-front which places the fullness properly to balance back dipping hem. An interesting detail is the curved outline of top of flounces.

You'll find it very simple to make and a real opportunity to wear a Paris gown. Style No. 3226 is designed in sizes 16, 18 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust.

Crepe satin in black with yoke and circular flounces cut from the reverse of the crepe make a stunning combination that is decidedly wearable.

Bottle green faille silk crepe with yoke of self-fabric finished with piping of the crepe, is very effective. Dahlia-purple sheer velvet with deep ecru lace yoke is irresistible.

Rust brown flat silk crepe self-trimmed, printed sheer velvet, an electric blue background with tiny white pin dots and flatter shade in plum coarse net are chic combinations.

Which Princess Will Wales Marry?

With the Lachlor Prince of Wales making, no effort to find himself a bride, the list of European princesses eligible to share the throne of the British kingdom is fast dwindling. Marriage of pretty Marie Jose of Belgium, "reduced the field to eight, and an and two more royal marriages are in prospect. The princesses from whose ranks Wales must choose a bride, if he marries, are: Ingrid of Sweden, 19, tall, blond, socially popular and a favorite prospect; Maria Cristina of Spain, 18, one of the best-dressed princesses; Beatrice of Spain, 20, brunette and a fine dancer; Giovanna of Italy, 22, with coal-black hair, but whose eyes are set on the Bulgarian throne; Juliana of Holland, 20, blond and buxom, but whose marriage to a Teuton prince seems a certainty; Eudoxia of Bulgaria, 31, domestically inclined and caretaker of the palace of her bachelor brother, Boris; Hilda of Luxembourg, 32, blond and an exceptionally fine cook; Ileana of Rumania, 20, a real blond beauty and taller than the prince.

The Story of Sue

by MARGERY HALE

© 1929 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

"I can't accept your check," Sue told Judge Thornton, dropping the torn paper into the wastebasket. "I do appreciate your kindness, though." She turned and walked from the room, head high, cheeks flaming.

"You didn't get it," Miss Parsons announced when she came from the office. "You received a gentle lecture and finally his own personal check, which you refused. Isn't that true?"

"How did you know?" Sue asked, sitting down at her desk.

"You can't work with a man as many years as I have without knowing his reactions concerning everything. Oh, of course he thinks he's a perpetual surprise, and as original as an April day, but he's just fooling himself. Now what are you going to do, Sue?"

"Call Sarah Slade. It's my last bet . . . or else Jimmy."

"Take Sarah. It isn't fair to Jimmy to let him be kind to you when you are doing it only through a sense of need."

Sue called Sarah almost at once, told her briefly that Corrinne was waiting for her sister and $25 or some such amount, at the city jail, and received all the sympathy that Judge Thornton had refused.

ENGAGEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Simon, 327 W. Wisconsin-ave., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Anna, to Louis Sappoznick, Chicago. No date has been set for the wedding.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

A marriage license was issued Monday by John T. Hantschel, county clerk, to Ernest Loewenhagen, route 3, Seymour and Gladys Leavitt, Seymour.

"Of course I'll meet you there right away. And I'll bring my whole bag of gold if it will help. I'm leaving this minute," she said warmly. "Don't worry one bit."

Sue did worry, though, as she went down the steps. People who were respectable and poor, people who had to keep in step with the procession even when they wore their soles thin in the march and had to scrape their pocketbooks to have them patched, let alone buying new shoes, had to worry. Money, money money! She hated the thought of it. So far as Corrinne was concerned, she knew that the incident would be managed all right, but the financial worries would go on and on and on unless . . . there was Harry.

The city jail was around the corner from Sue's office, so she arrived before Sarah. A blue-coated policeman told the desk sergeant who she was and motioned her to a small room where Corrinne sat.

"Oh, hello, Sue," she greeted her, with an impish smile darting over her piquant face. "Will you do me a favor, honey? Go call Bob. It will scare him into a five pound bag of chocolates and I need to be kept sweet. I tried to call him but that old policeman said I should let up on my social obligations until I get back to the sidewalks of the free."

Sue ignored her petition, shaking her head. "Sarah's bringing her checkbook. And why in the world do they want bond?"

Corrinne giggled again. "Because they wanted the sunshine of my smile in this dreary place." She swung a slender, rounded leg which was sheathed in beige calfion. "They knew I couldn't pay bond so they thought they'd keep me. I tried to say that I wasn't smiling today but it didn't help."

Sue laughed in spite of her anxiety. "The city's worrying about your morals, sweet child. Sarah will be here in a minute now. It's perfectly dumb for them to demand a bond for going through a stop light. I've done it, too."

"I know it," Corrinne nodded slowly. "But you didn't have a bang-up meeting with a car coming in the opposite direction, did you?"

NEXT: Sarah goes on Corrinne's bond.

Interesting Menus

IF the empty jars in the preserve cupboard outnumber the full ones, perhaps some dried fruit butters and marmalade will help make the fresh fruit preserves last until spring for special occasions.

Citrus fruit marmalades can be made as cheaply now as any time and will be particularly relished when faded spring appetites need toning up.

COMBINATION CONSERVE

One-half pound dried peaches, 1-3 pound dried apricots, 1 pound prunes, 2 oranges, 1-2 cup seedless raisins, 1-2 cup nut meats, 1 1-4 pounds sugar.

Wash peaches, prunes and apricots through several waters. Let peaches and apricots stand in cold water to cover for three hours and drain. Cover all the fruits with cold water and let stand overnight. In the morning, summer in the same water until very tender and rub through a sieve. Put into preserving kettle and add graded rind and juice of oranges, raisins and sugar. Bring to the boiling point and cook until mixture thickens and becomes clear. Add nut meats and cook ten minutes.

The Tynmites

By Hal Cochran

UP to the bike the Tinkles ran, real thankful to the rubber man. He'd put a brand new tire-on and everything was great.

"Come on, let's ride. We're set to go," one Tiny shouted loudly. "Oh! I am so anxious for a trip that I can hardly wait."

"We'll travel on along the ground until some wondrous land is found. I hope, from now on, we may find that fate can sometimes be real kind. Naught will go wrong if we just travel at an easy gait."

Their friend then cried, "Well, Tynmites, I hope you see some dandy sights. Some day I'll meet you all again. At least I hope I will. Be careful as you ride around and keep off of the bumpy ground. Whatever you may see, I hope 'twill turn out quite a thrill."

And then, with frown upon his brow, he added, "I must leave you now. I'm glad that I have met you all and things have turned out right. I'd like to go along with you, but I have work that I must do." The rubber man then bounced until he'd bounced right out of sight.

"Oh, gee, I hate to see him go. He was a real good sort to know," said Carpy. "But he's gone now, so we may as well forget. Come on, let's hop upon the bike and have the sort of trip we like. Who knows but what this may turn out the best adventure yet."

So, each one jumped into his place. They started off just like a race. All of a sudden Carpy said, "Hey! What is chasing me? I hear a buzzing sound real near. It sounds like something we should fear." "That's what it is," snapped Scouty. "It's a great big bumble bee."

longer. Pour into sterilized jars and seal.

The following recipe is for a combination of fruit marmalade that is particularly delicious.

THREE FRUIT MARMALADE

One grape fruit, large orange, 1 large lemon, 10 cups granulated sugar.

Wash fruit and wipe dry. Cut into quarters. Then cut the quarters through the peel and pulp into very thin slices, discarding the seeds and the white pith in the center. Let the fruit stand in 14 cups of cold water overnight. Cook until peel is very tender. It will take several hours. Let stand overnight again. In the morning, add sugar and cook until syrup thickens. Turn into sterilized glasses and cover with paraffin when cold. This will make about 12 large glasses of marmalade.

WELFARE OF STATE
DEPENDS ON ROADS,
ROAD SCHOOL TOLD

C. M. Babcock, Minnesota
Commissioner, Talks to Highway Men

Madison —(P)— On the adequacy of its road system depends the welfare of any state and the responsibility of road building and maintenance should lie fully with the state, C. M. Babcock, Minnesota commissioner of highways, told delegates to Wisconsin's nineteenth annual Road school here today.

Commissioner Babcock, the principal speaker at the opening day's program, said the character of traffic today makes all roads a part of one general system. By virtue of this, the state and not the counties should be responsible for the development of the system.

"While county and township officials should properly retain control and bear responsibility for the local roads," Mr. Babcock said, "the state should not only have full control over the primary roads and assume the burden of financing them, but the state should also see that all the different classes of roads are correlated and improved so that they will fit in and be part of the general system."

The commissioner told the delegates that some adequate state wide plan is absolutely necessary if Wisconsin is to build a highway system which will adequately serve the people and carry the traffic.

Both Minnesota and Wisconsin, despite the highway progress they have made, are far from meeting the public requirements in their road buildings, he said.

"I have always felt," Commissioner Babcock said, "that the state should be ready to assume the full responsibility for any indebtedness which may be necessary for the construction of primary highways; and it should not expect or require any counties to carry this responsibility."

The speaker warned against the issuance of bonds for highway developments before a careful survey of proposed improvements is made. He also said no bonds should be issued unless there is provision for retirement of the bonds before the highways or other improvements have outlived their usefulness.

The delegates were told that highways and other means of communication are as necessary to the stability of government as are schools. They prevent sectional prejudices and misunderstandings and are essential to the successful conduct of our schools, Mr. Babcock said.

DRY LAW TRANSFER
STILL IS PUZZLE

ful, however, whether she will volunteer any comments because it is known that there was considerable difference from time to time between the treasury and the department of justice when she was in charge. The department was that the prohibition agents did not get adequate evidence or did not get their cases in such shape where conviction could be obtained. In many of the instances where cases were dropped by the department of justice criticism was leveled at United States attorneys who, however, were not to blame because the evidence was not sufficient.

The argument now is that by placing prohibition in the department of justice better trained men will be found. Theoretically the advantages of the combination have been stressed but there are opponents who believe that the very existence of separate bureaus in different departments operates as a check against abuse of power.

Certainly with prohibition enforcement concentrated in a single department the treasury and his staff will bear complete responsibility and the attorney general in turn will require the political cooperation of the president himself in order to resist the pressure that comes from local political chieftains whenever "the higher ups" behind the rum traffic get into trouble.

In the getting of evidence, however, the department of justice will be handicapped in the future as the treasury department has been in the past by the lack of aid from local police who in turn are subject to political influence either through mayors or political bosses. Congress is very likely to transfer the whole responsibility to the department of justice but not until after there has been a debate and a very interesting one on what are the weaknesses of the present enforcement machinery.

M'NAMARA NAMED TO TEACH PAPER CLASSES

Louis J. McNamara, formerly of the Kimberly-Clark corporation, has been appointed itinerant instructor for the pulp and paper industry in the Wisconsin river valley by H. G. Noyes, itinerant coordinator of the industry with headquarters at Appleton vocational school.

Mr. McNamara will teach classes in the pulp and paper industry in mills at Rhinelander, Menominee, Waupun, Wisconsin Rapids, and Eau Claire. He will start his work next week.

Mrs. McNamara succeeds Mr. Brabender of Peshtigo, who resigned recently. Mr. Brabender will complete his work at Eau Claire Monday.

ANNUAL EQUITY MEET TO BE HELD AT NEW LONDON

The annual convention of the Outagamie County Union American society of Equity will be held at the Grand Theatre in New London at 9:30 Wednesday morning, according to notices mailed this week by Herman Gagnon, secretary. Annual reports will be read, officers will be elected and plans for activities during the ensuing year will be discussed. Gus Schell, county agent, has been asked to attend the meeting.

There's A Ball Up And A Kick In This Exercise;
Reduces Hips, Thigh, Abdomen, Calf, And Ankle

BY JAC AURE

Reducing exercises should be enjoyable. But there must be some work in them or they will fail to give one that sense of zest that comes from a good work-out. I have said before that to be perfectly healthy, I think everyone should exercise hard enough to perspire freely at least twice a week. The most efficacious exercise for this is the medicine ball kick.

It reduces all along the line. Hips, thigh, abdomen, calf and ankle all come in for their share of work-out. And the muscles of the back are strengthened and the blood is sent circulating through the body — renewed by having thrown off its waste matter.

THREE STEPS TO HEALTH

There are three steps in learning how to kick the medicine ball so that it thoroughly exercises the entire body. Do it in the following manner:

1. Stretch out on the floor on your back, hands under head, feet together.

2. Draw your knees up to your chest, and as the medicine ball is thrown to you, kick it with both feet, vigorously, so that you feel your leg and back muscles stretch.

3. Then, keeping the right foot stretched out on the floor, draw the other knee up and kick the medicine ball with the left foot only.

4. Change feet, stretching out the left, kicking with the right. Medicine ball exercises should be the culmination of several minutes of limbering up, rather than the starting point of reducing to round the 1930 curves. Start with only a few kicks the first day; increase the number until you have a ten or fifteen minute period. You will be surprised with the invigorating effect of this exercise.

TOMORROW: The high-bicycle exercise.

Carol Cotton illustrates the medicine-ball kicking exercise.

Social Activities At Capital Halted By Cold

BY DOROTHEA J. LEWIS

Post-Crescent's Washington Society Editor

Washington—Last week in social Washington was a comparatively quiet one and there was no one to blame for it, unless perhaps the long-suffering weather man. Snow the first part of the week only added to the capital's beauty.

Nothing in this country can be much lovelier than the national capital when it is covered with snow. The capitol's majestic dome rose serene above the snow, and the White House completely surrounded with lawn and powdered trees was a veritable fairy palace, facing across the street a great white, sparkling Lafayette park.

But the weatherman, or whoever regulates those things wouldn't let Washington be lovely long, and soon it began to rain, snow again, sleet, and freeze, and poor society became a "stay-at-home" and a "shut-in."

Official affairs, of course, went on as planned, for if Mrs. Hoover's illness the week before had not halted receptions in her honor, certainly mere weather couldn't. Tuesday, the Congressional club held its second brilliant official event of the season, the annual reception for the vice-president.

Mrs. Edward Everett Gann accompanied her brother as always, and his daughter, Mrs. Charles P. George, who is visiting here, also attended. Mrs. Nicholas Longworth who has been waging a social war concerning precedence with Mrs. Gann attended the reception and chatted very animatedly with vice-president Curtis and his official hostess. Representative and Mrs. Henry Allen Cooper of Racine were among the large number of the club attending. The vice president's popularity was evidenced in the unusual number of men present.

CALLED BACK HOME

Miss Margaret McLaren of Racine who had been visiting Mrs. Henry Allen Cooper and was intending to stay in Washington until the end of the month, was unexpectedly called home, Jan. 17 because of the illness of her mother. In having to leave so suddenly, she missed many interesting parties. She was extensively entertained during her stay here and became very popular in her short visit.

Thursday evening, the night before she left, she and Representative and Mrs. Cooper attended a performance of "Gambling," a new play starring George M. Cohan. They found it extremely enjoyable. Miss McLaren was entertained at luncheon during her last week here by Miss Barbara Vandenberg, daughter of Senator and Mrs. Vandenberg of Michigan, on Monday, and by Miss Rachel Davies, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Davies, formerly of Watertown and Madison, on Tuesday.

Even with the loss of her young guest, Mrs. Cooper's program of social activities remained very crowded. Immediately after Miss McLaren's departure at 7:30 Friday, Representative and Mrs. Cooper were guests at a dinner given by Mrs. John Henry Dwight, formerly of Racine, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Mortimer of Racine who are visiting in Washington.

Tuesday Mrs. Cooper was Mrs. Dwight's guest at the Philadelphia

Symphony concert and Wednesday she was a guest at a luncheon given by Mrs. Charles Eaton, wife of Representative Eaton of New Jersey. Later in the afternoon, Wednesday, she attended a tea given by Mrs. Otis Wingo, wife of Representative Wingo of Arkansas. Mrs. Cooper was entertained at a tea at the British Embassy, Saturday.

SONS VISIT LAMPERT

Representative and Mrs. Florian Lampert of Oshkosh had two of their sons, Benjamin and Florian, Jr., visiting them for several days last week. They were on their way from Oshkosh to Florida.

Whenever Wisconsin people come to Washington, it seems to be a necessary part of their visit to call upon Representative and Mrs. John C. Schafer of Milwaukee, either at Representative Schafer's office or at his home.

A partial list of their callers last week includes Mrs. Harry E. Tison of Sheboygan, a Republican national committeewoman; Honorable Roger Sherman Hoar of Cudahy, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sheasby, Edward Kavanagh, and Harry Gray, all connected with newspapers in Milwaukee; political writers; Honorable Oscar Morris of Milwaukee, president of the State senate; State Senator George Blanchard; Algermen Fleischner and Gahnke and two other Milwaukee aldermen; Ludwig Kormsman, Frank Fiedler and Mr. Ruppung, all of Milwaukee.

Monday Mrs. Schaefer was a guest of Mrs. Frank Frost, a Washington woman prominent in musical circles of the capital, at the American Grand Opera company's production of the new opera, "Xanadu of Cyprus." Wednesday, Mrs. Schaefer took her young daughter, Shirley, to hear "Faust." It was Shirley's first introduction to that opera and she was properly thrilled.

CHARGES GERMAN
CHEMICAL GROUPS INFLUENCE TARIFF

Foundation President Claims
Senator Moses Lends
Them Support

New York —(P)— Francis P. Garvan, president of the Chemical Foundation, in a statement published today, charged that a conspiracy by German chemical interests to influence United States tariff schedules had been aided by Senator George Moses of New Hampshire, Otto H. Kahn and others.

The statement was issued with copies of a deposition which he made for use in the suit brought against him as former alien property custodian charging that he and others tried to defraud the government of $5,553,546 in the war time disposition of the assets of the Bosch Magneto company. The suit was dismissed in federal court in Boston Saturday, where the deposition is on file.

Garvan said in his statement that during ten years he had "assembled evidence of the German penetration of American industry, involving cabinet officers of the Harding regime and Senator Moses of New Hampshire as allies of the German interests in their attempt to regain control of the American situation."

"The only reason I make this statement is because after this case has blown up, the fight goes on today. Some of you saw the other day that Senator Moses had appointed Otto Kahn treasurer for the election

Mrs. Gifford Pinckot, wife of the former governor of Pennsylvania, entertained the Congressional club at a Friday with an illustrated talk on her recent South Sea Island trip. Mrs. Henry Allen Cooper, Mrs. E. L. Hart, H. Brown, Mrs. James A. Fournier, wife of Representative Fournier of Hudson, and Mrs. John C. Schaefer were among the Wisconsin members attending.

Mrs. Alvin Loverud of Stoughton is still visiting her parents, Dr. and Mrs. D. O. Kinsman, in Washington. Mrs. Loverud and her twin children, Joan and Allen, have been in the capital since the holidays. Dr. Kinsman, who is now connected with American University here, formerly taught at Lawrence college in Appleton.

Captain and Mrs. P. M. Anderson, formerly of Madison and Augusta, Wis., entertained a small company at dinner Wednesday and after the of new senators. You did not associate the fact that his friend and partner, Warburg, is head and front of the American interest in the American Interessen Gemeinschaft in its attempt to destroy our chemical industry." Mr. Kahn and Warburg are partners in Kuhn, Loeb and company.

The statement also named Merton E. Lewis, former attorney general of New York, as an American official aiding German dye interests. Mr. Garvan said that a salary of $10,000, which is being paid Mr. Lewis as a special assistant of the United States attorney general was being paid in violation of the federal law as the amount was being paid from German funds held by the alien property custodian by and with the consent of Germans.

Mr. Garvan said the suit against him was investigated by Gustav B. Means, who later was sentenced to the federal penitentiary at Atlanta.

A BETTER WAY

MANY more people would fight fat in the right way if they did not fear some harm. The slender figures, multiplied in late years, could be multiplied again.

But the danger lies in starvation or abnormal exercise. The right way is to combat the cause. It usually lies in an under-active gland. That scanty gland secretion lets too much food go to fat. Modern physicians, in treating obesity, feed the lacking substance.

That method is the basis of Marmola prescription tablets. They are prepared by a famous laboratory, to offer this right method at its best. People have used them for 22 years—millions of boxes of them. The results are seen in every circle. Almost everyone has friends who can show and tell the many good effects.

The Marmola prescription is not secret. Each box contains the formula, and all the good results are explained. The user who gains new youth and

Art Roemer Wins Post-Crescent Skating Crown

Soo Line Cagers Meet Cords Tuesday Evening

EMMETT MORTELL WINNER OF MEN'S CHAMPIONSHIP

Bluebell Ryan Takes Senior Girls and Girl's Title Honors

THE old order changes, even in skating and so today there are five new champions in the city ice circles.

Foremost among the new winners is Arthur Roemer who won the Post-Crescent championship and therefore the city championship, displacing Clem Kitzinger who had held the honors for many years.

The new senior men's champion is Emmett Mortell, winner of first place in all three races in which he competed while little Bluebell Ryan is girl's city champion and senior girl's champion.

There was little competition in the junior girl races and Audrey Reider started out as the class among the younger misses of the city. She skated to a victory in one race and won another on default.

Intermediate boy honors are evenly divided among Leo Rabideau of Kaukauna and Walter Haupe of Appleton. Rabideau won the 880 with ease and placed second in the 440 when he slipped on one of the turns but made a quick recovery. Rabideau's error permitted Walter Haupe to finish in the first place and the Appleton boy followed Rabideau across the line in the 880.

Junior boy honors went to Chet Krautsch with Arthur Van Ryza second. They finished one, two, respectively in each of the two races. Starting a few minutes after 1 o'clock the races were run off in record time thanks to the officials, the readiness of the skaters to cooperate and the crowd which refrained from wandering onto the track.

And the several hundred fans who turned out in spite of the zero weather saw several thrilling battles especially in the senior men and Post-Crescent champion races. Every one of the six events in the two classes were battled down to the last ditch and in the 220 for the seniors Emmett Mortell and Francis Rooney crossed the tape in dead heat. Likewise in the champions' 440 yard dash, Art Roemer and Frank Grosser tied after a struggle.

Little Bluebell Ryan, winner of the senior girl's championship despite the fact she was almost the smallest skater on the ice and in years is eligible to enter the junior girl's class, won the two races in the senior girl's class and then skated another 880 yards to win the girl's championship race from Miss Ella Vinesch. Her exhibition rates her as one of the best skaters in the valley and if she again competes at Green Bay she should gain some of the Northeastern Wisconsin prizes.

As was recounted Emmett Mortell won the senior men's title by winning first place in each of the three events. In the first race, the 220 yard dash, he flashed across the tape tied with Francis Rooney with George Vanderloop of Little Chute in second place.

In the 440 Mortell again set a pace that was hard for others to keep and he won easily. And then came the mile. Starting in a group, the skaters eased along during the first couple laps. Then Mortell pulled up in front and getting about a one-third lap ahead stayed out in front although pressed during the last couple laps by Francis Rooney.

Five skaters, the class of the speed boys in the city, competed in the Post-Crescent championship races. They were Clem Kitzinger, Art and Bob Roemer and Frank Grosser. The new city champion, Art Roemer accomplished little in the dash race for he finished third as Kitzinger and Bob Roemer crossed the line one, two.

In the 440 yard dash Art Roemer stepped to the front and finished first with Frank Grosser, the battle across the tape being one of the best of the afternoon. Then came the mile. The five champs started but Grosser fell and went out of action and Bob Roemer started to let his brother and Kitzinger battle down to the finish. With the knowledge that the winner of the race would be the city champ and with Kitzinger endeavoring to repeat, the two boys flashed around and around the oval battling for every advantage possible. Roemer's continued effort was the reason he was able to get out in front there was no catching him.

Summary of the races:
220 yard dash, junior boys—Chet Krautsch, Art Van Ryza and Milan Endter. Time: 23 seconds.
440 yard dash, junior boys—Chet Krautsch, Art Van Ryza. Time: 54 seconds.
440 yard dash, intermediate boys—Walter Haupe, Leo Rabideau, Raymond Ripon. Time: 50 seconds.
880 yard dash, intermediate boys—Leo Rabideau, Walter Haupe, Wilbur Schmidt. Time: 1 minute 42 seconds.
220 yards, junior girls—Audrey Reider. Time: 40 seconds.
440 yard dash, junior girls—Audrey Reider by default.
550 yard dash, senior girls—Bluebell Ryan, Florence Koepsel. Time: 38 seconds.
880 yard dash, senior girls—Bluebell Ryan, Bernice Hove. Time: 2 minutes 2 seconds.
Girls championship race, 880 yards—Bluebell Ryan. Time: 1 minute 56 seconds.
220 yard dash, senior men—Francis Rooney, Emmett Mortell, Fred George Vanderloop. Time: 22 seconds.
440 yard dash, senior men—Emmett Mortell, Francis Rooney and George Vanderloop. Time: 41 1/2 seconds.
Mile, senior men—Emmett Mortell, Francis Rooney, Manfred Helms. Time: 3 minutes, 55 seconds.
220 yard dash, P-C champs—Clem Kitzinger, Bob Roemer, Art Roemer. Time: 22 seconds.
440 yard dash, P-C champs—Frank

Thank You!

The Post-Crescent wishes to thank Appleton skaters for the interest they showed in the annual races, to thank the crowd that came out and braved zero weather to see the class of skaters compete and to thank police officers for handling the folks who wandered onto the track and into the way.

We also wish to extend thanks to the officials who ran the meet in record time and without a hitch. Among them were John Roemer, starter, Marvin Leopold, assistant starter, Joseph Sheild, announcer, Don Morrissey, Roy LaRose and Walter Schultz, judges, Harold Frank, scorer, Eddie Starnard, timer, and Charles Henderson, and Harold Derus, judges.

APPLETON HOCKEY TEAM AGAIN BEATS NEW LONDON SIX

Score Five Goals in First Period; Final Score 13 and 0

DESPITE the fact the New London team was strengthened with several Appleton hockey players who are playing an independent game, the Blue Streaks, local sector, romped all over the invaders Sunday afternoon on the Jones park rink. The score was Appleton 13, New London 0, the battle being staged after the annual skating races.

Rushing after a big lead in the first period Appleton had a 5 and 0 advantage before the first gun sounded. And Forster, Appleton, then went to goal for the New London offense and defense of that Appleton registered but three times in the second period, Ducky Schultz scoring twice and Percy Sharp once.

Shortly after the period opened the invaders rushed the rubber in front of the Appleton net but despite a desperate attack failed to get it past Frasher, Appleton goalie. The attack soon wilted and then the Blue Streaks brought the rubber down in New London territory and kept it there.

The third and last period was comparatively slower as the players tired. However, New London was continually on the defense and the Blue Streaks kept pounding away just enough to get fire more scores. Schultz and Helms led the Appleton scoring with four goals each. Joe Shields connected for two, Bell for one, Kiley for one and Sharp for one. Members of the Appleton team were Ducky Schultz, wing, Eddie Helms, center, Joe Shields, wing, Wally Bell, center, Kiley and Percy Sharp, wings, C. Davis, F. Rooney, Newland, and Clem Kitzinger, defense and Frasher, goalie.

Effort was being made to bring a Green Bay team here for a night game Wednesday. The rink has been lighted and if arrangements can be completed the first night game will be staged this week.

Charlie Wolfe of Lawrence college refereed Sunday's battle.

APPLETON SKATERS TO COMPETE AT BAY

Annual Press Gazette Races Will Be Held Sunday, Feb. 2

Green Bay—Many of the outstanding skaters in northeastern Wisconsin are expected to compete in the seventh annual Press-Gazette ice skating tournament to be held here Sunday, Feb. 2.

Skaters from Green Bay, DePere, Appleton, Marinette, Oconto, Sturgeon Bay and many other cities in this part of the state have taken part in the derby in other years and are expected to do so again this year. The tourney has attracted thousands of persons every year.

There will be races for junior boys and girls, intermediate boys and senior men and women. The senior races will be for city and northeastern Wisconsin championships. A dog sled and novelty races also are planned.

Clem Kitzinger and Percy Sharp, both of Appleton, each have won the N. E. W. championship race two times and are expected to compete again this year. They will race for a trophy that must be won three times before it becomes the permanent possession of one person. As each needs but one more victory, spirited competition is sure to result.

Margaret Legacy, Marinette, won the N. E. W. women's championship for the third time last year and gained permanent possession of the trophy as a new award will be given this year. Miss Legacy is expected to compete again next Sunday.

WOLVES, BEARS AGAIN WIN IN Y BASKETBALL LOOP

Peotter Scores 8 Times for Wolves; Hi-Y-Bear Game Is Close

LED by Peotter, center, the Wolverines of the Older Boy Basketball league sponsored by the boy's department of the Y. M. C. A. registered another win Saturday in downing the Red Streaks 26 and 10. Peotter scored 16 points for the Wolves and would have won the game single handed. The other battle of the afternoon card resulted in a victory for the Fourth ward Bears. The Hi-Y team being losers 8 and 7.

Thanks to Peotter, the Wolverines took a lead in the first half although it was by a margin of but three points, 10 and 7. Peotter scored four of the goals in this period and in the second half repeated while Ebert helped with three tosses and Shannon with one. The Red Streaks in the meantime were having a bad time of things and counted only a field goal and free throw.

Close guarding featured the Bears' tilt with the Hi-Y team. The first half ended 5 and 2 for the Hi-Y but when Verbrick scored three field goals for 6 points a. his mates stopped the Hi-Y with only two free throws the Fourth warders eked out a narrow win.

DENNIS RECOVERING FROM BROKEN JAW

Writes Letter to Dick Wolfe

Appleton fight fans who have become interested in Tommy Dennis, the little Milwaukee Italian who suffered a broken jaw in his battle with Dick Wolfe last Thursday night will be interested to hear the little Third warder apparently is getting along alright despite the inconvenience for the time being.

In a letter to Wolfe Saturday Tommy indicated he takes his injury philosophically and is waiting until he can get back in the ring. Despite the fact fans probably thought Wolfe was a bit too experienced for Dennis, Tommy said he was beginning to enjoy things just about the time he discovered his teeth and part of his jaw bone were not as usual.

Dennis has fought on three cards here in the last couple months and although he has failed to return a winner, fans like the little Italian's style. Many believe he has been a bit over matched in two of the bouts and would like to see him back here with an even chance of getting the nod.

NORWEGIAN SETS NEW SKI RECORD

Leaps 187 1-2 Feet and Then Does Exhibition of 191 Feet

Westby—(AP)—A 20-year-old youth fresh from Norway today took his place among the elite of American ski-doms.

Alf Engen, competing in his first big American meet yesterday, smashed a world's record for a jump from a scaffold hill, leaping 187 1/2 feet. Then, to show he could outdo himself, he made an exhibition jump of 191 feet which, however, did not count toward the record.

Taking part in the Snowflake Ski club's annual tournament, Sunday, Engen was closely pressed by a pair of stars from Omaha and Westby. Harold Walstad and Sig. Ulland. The old mark of 182 feet, set by Walter Bratund of Ironwood in 1919, was tied twice and twice surpassed during the meet by Engen, Walstad and Ulland.

Match Bowling Games

Appleton bowling teams featured in three match games rolled on Sunday, two of them tossed on Elk alleys, the third at Little Chute. On the Elk runways, the Elk team lost to Oshkosh 244 and 257. The Appleton five also lost two out of three games.

New London Cozy Corners eked out a win over the Behnke Clothiers in another game on Elk alleys the score being 254 and 261. The New London quintet also annexed two of three games.

West Side Tires, Appleton girls bowling team, was the only five to win. They beat the Flying Dutchmen of Little Chute by a score of 2726 to 2426.

Scores of the games follow:

REGULAR BOWLERS HOLD LIMELIGHT AT OSHKOSH MEET

First Scores at State Bowling Tournament Are Comparatively Low

OSHKOSH—(AP)—Bowlers from scattered points throughout Wisconsin, dominated the state tournament alleys Sunday, and after they had finished their assault on the pins, eight chances in the five-men, doubles and singles had been hung up.

J. Topp and D. Born of Milwaukee grabbed off first place in the doubles with 1168; A. Walsh and A. Schroeder, Milwaukee, went into second place with 1147 and A. Spohholz and G. Zedler, also of Milwaukee, captured fourth place with 1142.

In the singles, J. Cleveland, who took the lead Saturday with 618, held his ground, but F. Jess of Milwaukee shot into third place with 620 and E. Koeseke and G. Hochstein, both of Milwaukee, took fourth and sixth places respectively with 618 and 610.

A fair score was set up in the five-men when the American Radiators of Milwaukee shunted the Huesbeck Laundry company team out of first place with 2781. The Landrums previously led with 2768.

Winners in the three booster squads which rolled Sunday night were:
First squad—St. Senecaus, Milwaukee, 2439; Strodtroff Decorators, Milwaukee, 2359; Wisconsin Ice and Coal, Milwaukee, 2356; Reik of Weyauwega, 2355; Banderes—Chase Furniture, Oshkosh, 2332 and Plantain Recreations No. 2, Milwaukee, 2316.

POWER COMPANY IN WIN OVER Y. M. C. A.; BANKERS ARE BEATEN

Two Games Played in Industrial Basketball Loop Saturday

WISCONSIN Michigan Power company basketball team tightened its already strangle hold on the Y. M. C. A.'s Industrial cage league pennant, Saturday evening by annexing another game. The Association five proved the victim in this case and the score was 26 and 12. The second game of the evening was between the O. R. Kleehn company and the Citizen's Bank of the former winning by the one side score of 27 and 6.

Led by Bowers, Ashman and Eggert, forward, center and guard respectively, the Power company jumped off to a respectable 16 and 7 lead at the end of the first half. Bowers and Eggert each had two field goals or the period while Ashman had four marked opposite his name. Notebaert had tried to keep the "Y" team in the running with two field goals aided by one toss by Kiss and a free throw by Bender.

The final half was comparatively even, however, the "Y" five getting three field goals and the Power company five.

Something went all wrong with the Bankers when they met the O. R. Kleehn company for all they could register in their evening's ball was two field goals in the first half and one in the second. The Kleehn's on the other hand found the hoop eight times with field goals and once with a free throw in the first half to total 17 points and then tallied 10 more points in the last half.

BADGERS HAVE WON EIGHT OUT OF NINE BASKETBALL GAMES

Meet Carroll, Marquette After Semester Examinations Are Over

MADISON—(AP)—Victor in eight of its nine first semester games, the University of Wisconsin basketball team finds itself in a strategic position for a renewed share of the Western conference title.

The Badgers, after dropping four preliminary opponents with ease, fell before Northwestern in their opening Big Nine game. However, handicapped by size and reserves, who have failed to master the intricate style of Wisconsin's coach, Dr. W. E. Meannell, the Badgers nevertheless have made a comeback and won their last four contests.

When play is resumed after non-conference contests with Marquette and Carroll, Wisconsin theoretically will have a competitive edge. Only the contest away from home with Illinois looms hard, although Chicago is expected to offer resistance. The victorious Northwestern Wildcats come to Madison for a return game, while the Badgers also meet the already beaten Ohio State and Indiana teams at Madison. Dr. Meannell concedes the home team an eight-point advantage with the result the Badgers should find only Northwestern a favorite, according to comparative scores.

Statistics for the first semester show the Badger captain, "Bud" Foster, the leading offensive player. He has counted 72 points in the eight games he has played. Foster is the conference scoring leader with 51 points for five games, an average of 10.2 points a game.

The Badger defense, after starting strong in non-conference competition, and then melting in the opening of the Big Nine race, has been welded again. The season average shows opponents have scored 17.41 points a game. The conference average is 20.2 points, eclipsed by Illinois with an average of 13.33 a contest.

CARDINALS TAKE 47 PLAYERS INTO CAMP

St. Louis—(AP)—Approximately 47 players will be in harness when Manager Gabby Street blows his horn for work at the St. Louis Cardinals spring training camp at Bradentown, Fla., in a few weeks. Branch Rickey, Red Bird vice president, said only 39-odd had their names on card contracts but the balance are coming from the various farms operated by the club.

The list includes 20 pitchers, 12 infielders, 8 outfielders and 7 catchers, of whom the Card roster shows 15 hurlers, 7 gardeners, a like number of infielders and 4 backstops. Rickey expects Street to have cut the squad to 30 when the training trip ends.

HORTON SMITH IS RANKING PLAYER AMONG GOLF PROS

Joplin Youth First Three Times, Second Once, Tied Second Twice

BY HERBERT W. BARKER Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK—(AP)—Gene Sarazen, stocky New Yorker, may have won the most money but the real leader of the winter golfing troupe is young Horton Smith of Joplin, Mo.

Thanks to his victory in the rich Agua Caliente open, Sarazen, former open title-holder, has enjoyed the most profitable winter of all his golfing brethren with cash prizes aggregating close to $15,500. Smith, however, has given a sensational display of consistently brilliant play ever since the troupe left for the west last fall.

In the eight major winter tournaments in which he has played, the Joplin professional has won there, placed second once and tied for second twice. And in compiling this imposing record Smith has earned nearly $5,500.

Sarazen did not follow the same trail as the majority of the pros. He won $600 by finishing fourth in the Hawaiian open; jumped back to Florida to win the Miami open and $750 and then snared the big prize of $10,000 in the Agua Caliente open. Smith, on the other hand, played in practically all of the California tournaments and nearly always with conspicuous success. He won the Pasadena, Berkeley and Portland Ore., opens; placed second to Craig Wood in the Hawaiian open and tied for second at Agua Caliente and in the Los Angeles open.

APPLETON QUINT HOPES TO STOP RAILWAY CHAMPS

Invaders Boast University College and Pro Stars of Northwest

ONE of the fastest basketball teams in the northwest will invade Appleton on Tuesday evening and do battle with the Miller Cords, Appleton professional five.

The invading five is the Soo Line basketball team, winners of the railway championship in the northwest and of 14 straight games. They have been dumped only twice in the last season or two, both times by the Rochester Aces. The team now is making a tour through Wisconsin and will stop off here Tuesday.

The Miller Cords have played three pro games before the local fans and won two and lost one. They defeated Kimberly and Neenah and now can claim the valley pro championship. Their one setback was against Kohler two weeks ago. In the meantime they have wandered out around the state and beaten Wisconsin Rapids and Fond du Lac.

Members of the Appleton team will again be the seven or eight men who have carried the Cord colors in all recent games. Eddie Kotal will be at forward along with Jake Zeman, Roger Ashman will jump center and Arnie Huhman and Milton Scherrie will be guards. The reserve lineup includes Elmer Dunn, Pete Koll, Eddy Eggert, Boozie Bowers and others.

The Soo Line team features Herb Wolden, a former Minnesota ace and a pro cager for the last three years. On the quint are the best high school, college and pro cagers in the northwest.

CARNERA, RETINUE ARRIVE IN CHICAGO

Big Italian Heavyweight Features on Stadium Card Friday Night

Chicago—(AP)—Primo Carnera and his retinue, including two sparring partners, his manager and a drawing instructor, today were here to prepare for the Italian's western boxing debut with Elizear Rieux at the Chicago stadium Friday night.

Primo's first workout in Chicago was on his schedule for today, the giant having spent yesterday afternoon after his arrival from New York in pouring tea for a delegation of his countrymen, looking over his training quarters and taken a lesson from his drawing teacher.

Carnera, who conquered Big Boy Peterson in less than a round in New York Friday night, is on the same bill with Bruno Flowers, New Rochelle, N. Y., lightweight and King Tut, rough Milwaukee puncher, who meet in a return match at the Chicago Stadium.

Havana—Al Brown, N. E. A., heavyweight champion, defeats Pinky Silverberg, Brooklyn, in ten-round bout.

RANGERS WALLOP 1ST WARD SEXTET

Only One Game Played in Junior Boys Hockey League Saturday

The Ranger hockey team in the Y. M. C. A. league hung up a victory Saturday afternoon at Jones park by beating the First ward sextet, 8 and 4. The score at the end of the first period was 2 and 0 for the Rangers and was increased to 6 and 0 at the end of the second period.

A reorganized attack and better team play in the third and final period gave the First warders four goals while the best the Rangers could do was put the rubber in the net twice. However, the big lead in the first two periods was too much to overcome and the final count was 8 and 4 for the Rangers.

Members of the Rangers were R. Carrigan, goalie, Widsen and H. Haurt wings, B. Powers and F. Semsch defense and S. Gmeiner, center. Among the players on the First ward team were J. Gmeiner, goalie, F. Dean wing, J. Horton defense and Priebe center.

POWER COMPANY IN WIN OVER Y. M. C. A.; BANKERS ARE BEATEN

Two Games Played in Industrial Basketball Loop Saturday

WISCONSIN Michigan Power company basketball team tightened its already strangle hold on the Y. M. C. A.'s Industrial cage league pennant, Saturday evening by annexing another game. The Association five proved the victim in this case and the score was 26 and 12. The second game of the evening was between the O. R. Kleehn company and the Citizen's Bank of the former winning by the one side score of 27 and 6.

Led by Bowers, Ashman and Eggert, forward, center and guard respectively, the Power company jumped off to a respectable 16 and 7 lead at the end of the first half. Bowers and Eggert each had two field goals or the period while Ashman had four marked opposite his name. Notebaert had tried to keep the "Y" team in the running with two field goals aided by one toss by Kiss and a free throw by Bender.

The final half was comparatively even, however, the "Y" five getting three field goals and the Power company five.

Something went all wrong with the Bankers when they met the O. R. Kleehn company for all they could register in their evening's ball was two field goals in the first half and one in the second. The Kleehn's on the other hand found the hoop eight times with field goals and once with a free throw in the first half to total 17 points and then tallied 10 more points in the last half.

COUNTY BANKERS' MEETING PUT OFF UNTIL FEBRUARY

Association to Hear Report on Proposed Purchase of Firearms

Kaukauna—A meeting of the Outagamie County Bankers' association, which was to be held at Hotel Kaukauna Wednesday, has been postponed until early in February, according to Charles Towles, who is in charge of arrangements. The meeting was postponed because of the cold weather.

A report on the proposed purchase of firearms and distributing them about the county for the protection of banks will be made by a committee appointed to meet with a committee of the county board. The firearms would be distributed among the banks at any time. Last fall the association asked all of the county to buy the firearms and the matter was laid over. The association committee is expected to meet this week with a county board committee appointed to take care of the matter.

Charles Prosser, Seymour, chairman of the rural committee, will present a four-fold farm program. The rural committee met last week at Seymour and drew up the program.

The program includes: sending a delegate, expense paid, to the key-bankers conference at Madison in connection with farm folks' week from Feb. 4 to 8; recommending that member banks promote the use of farm inventory and credit statement books that are furnished by the state college of agriculture.

Offering of the county bankers' cooperation to A. G. Moring, county superintendent of schools, in furthering the teaching of how to keep farm records to rural school students; and taking an active interest in local clubs by financing achievement pins and paying the expense of a delegate from every 4-H club in the county to the county summer camp, which was started last year.

Tom slept on peacefully while the fire department worked. There was little damage but Tom's faith in the fire department was expressed.

FATHER AND SON BANQUET IS SET FOR FEBRUARY 11

Put Tickets on Sale This Week for Annual Affair at Kaukauna

Kaukauna—Committee members in charge of the father and son banquet to be held here met Friday evening and set the banquet date for Tuesday, Feb. 11, according to Olin G. Dryer, committee chairman. About 160 persons are expected to attend the affair at the Hotel Kaukauna.

Tickets will be put on sale about the middle of this week. They can be obtained from Mr. Dryer, Roy Nelson, William F. Ashe, O. D. Towles, John Nissen and the Rev. H. H. Lane. A tentative program was drawn up.

"While the affair is being sponsored by the Kaukauna boy scout troop committee, the banquet is a community affair," Chairman Dryer said. "Every father in the city is invited to attend the dinner with his son. A man having no son can take another boy."

Letters have been received from different organizations pledging cooperation. Among those who have pledged themselves are the Kaukauna Rotary club, Odd Fellows, Order of Eastern Star, Methodist church, Congregational church, Moloch company, Tilmann Paper company. A block of tickets will be sold by the Knights of Columbus, who are also cooperating. The Kaukauna Advancement association, which meets Monday evening, will be asked to help.

BEEKEEPERS TO HOLD MEETING IN COUNCIL CHAMBERS NEXT WEEK

Plan to Discuss Open Marketing of Honey Harvest; Hear Reports

BY W. F. WINSEY
A meeting of beekeepers will be held in the city hall here Tuesday afternoon, another in Green Bay Wednesday afternoon, and a third in Sturgeon Bay Thursday afternoon.

By competing with each other in the sale of honey, and by throwing the entire crop on the market at the time of the honey harvest, the entire crop on the market at the time of the honey harvest, beekeepers cut down prices where they remain stable as long as they have honey and by their haste, help to raise the price when they are cleaned out and have no more honey to sell. At the meetings the marketing of honey cooperatively through the Mountain States association which has the makings of a national organization will be discussed by O. A. Land, of Minneapolis, legal advisor of the Mountain States association and James Gwin of the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture and Markets, who is in charge of honey marketing for the state.

By an overwhelming vote at the last annual meeting, the Wisconsin Beekeepers' association went on record as accepting the offer of the Mountain States Honey Producers' association to extend its services to the Wisconsin beekeepers.

The Wisconsin department of agriculture and markets has carefully studied the by-laws and contracts and other papers of the Mountain States association and found them to be sane and sound. In consequence of the study the department not only advises 'it urges all beekeepers to join the association, which is certain to stabilize the honey market.

The meetings are so important to honey producers that no one who wishes to see the industry thrive can afford to stay at home and miss them.

NEW MATERIAL PROTECTS HOMES FROM LIGHTNING

New York—(AP)—Discovery of a new material named thyrte, which offers better protection from lightning, was announced to the American Institute of Electrical Engineers today by Karl E. McEachron of the General Electric company. Thyrte is a compound, in appearance a cross between black slate and porcelain. Its name of Greek derivation, means gate, and for electrical current it is almost literally a gate in more senses than one.

For the ordinary currents used in the industrial and household worlds, thyrte is a good insulator, a resistor that keeps the current from jumping out of bounds, a closed gate. But when electricity becomes too ardent, thyrte "gives it the gate." If a tremendous overcharge comes along the wire, such as a stroke of lightning, thyrte changes from insulator into a good conductor, offering a ready and harmless pathway for escape of the overcharge. "Thyrte," said Mr. McEachron, "has the property of decreasing its resistance as electrical voltage increases. It possesses the remarkable property of being substantially an insulator at one potential and a good conductor at certain higher potentials."

For the first time in the history of lightning protection it becomes possible to calculate accurately the performance of lightning arrestors. The idea of using lightning arrestors along a line is not new, but suitable arrestor have not been available from the standpoint of size or cost.

Thyrte can be produced in any shape which can be molded. The great advantages of the new arrestors lie in their performance, small in size, low installation costs, small weight and the predictability of the results to be expected.

Cheese Makers To Battle Tariff Problem At Meet

BY W. F. WINSEY
Green Bay—Wisconsin farmers, vitally concerned with protecting their markets against the onslaughts of foreign competition will devote of foreign to a consideration of tariffs on dairy products at the sixteenth annual meeting of the National Cheese Producers' Federation at Madison Feb. 12-13.

Charles Holman, Washington, D. C., executive secretary of the National Milk Producers' Federation, who has been directing the fight for increased rates for the dairymen, will lead the discussion.

The dairymen generally approve the rate of eight cents per pound or thirty-five per cent ad valorem on cheese written into the pending bill. One of the objectives sought is an eight cent cut duty on casein instead of the proposed 5 1/2 cent rate, now a part of the pending bill. With cheese imports totalling about eighty million pounds per annum and comprising in value seventy per cent of the total dairy imports, Wisconsin farmers naturally are vitally concerned with tariffs on dairy products.

With dairy prices lower than they have been for almost a decade and still further price reductions in prospect, the thousand or more dairymen who will convene at Madison will be vitally interested in the proposals for a state wide dairy marketing program to be considered at the meeting.

With members of the Federal Farm Board among the speakers, also R. A. Peterson of the State Department of Cooperative Marketing, John Brandt of the Land O'Lakes Corp., and D. N. Geyer of the Pure Milk Association of Chicago, on the program, adequate consideration of the various phases of the dairy movement is assured.

FARMERS URGED TO USE LONGER FIELDS

Rectangular Plots Bring More Dividends and Less Work, It Is Shown

Farms are growing larger. Addition of more acres necessitates rearranging the farm layout. Rectangular fields, with every foot of their surfaces yielding income producing crops in return for the time that is expended in going over them are to be desired. The larger acreage may lead to heavier machinery so that time may be saved by the operator. Longer fields eliminate unnecessary turning. Time used in turning is waste. It takes more energy for a heavy horse or heavy tractor to turn than for a light one, feels County Agent Gus Sell.

The present agricultural reform may inevitably lead to the combination of several small fields into fewer or large ones. This may necessitate the grubbing out of many fence rows, the blasting of occasional tramp stones or stumps, the draining of wet spots, or even the removal of trees that interfere with the onward moving machinery, according to E. R. Jones, engineer at the Wisconsin College of Agriculture.

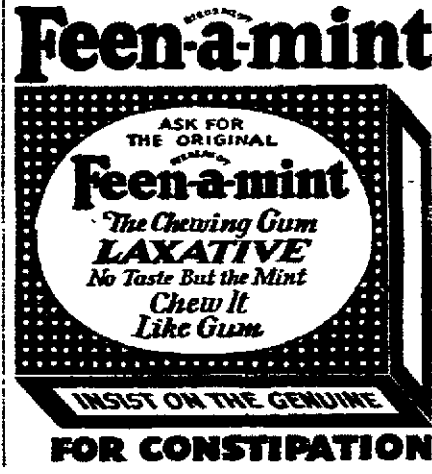

"Even the clearing of more land may occasionally be justifiable. Sufficient land reclamation on every farm to make it a well balanced producing unit is the job of the moment for the agricultural engineer.

"When considering adding an extra 20 acres, farmers will do well to ask themselves, 'Will six per cent interest on improvements exceed the rent on a similar 20 on an adjoining farm?' Of course the advantages of location, the pride of ownership, and the increased productivity of virgin soil, as well as the necessity of paying taxes on non-income yielding property are other factors to be taken into account," says Jones.

The United States mints turned out 46,651,000 coins for foreign governments the last fiscal year.

TRADE IN INTERIOR IS MARKING TIME JUST NOW

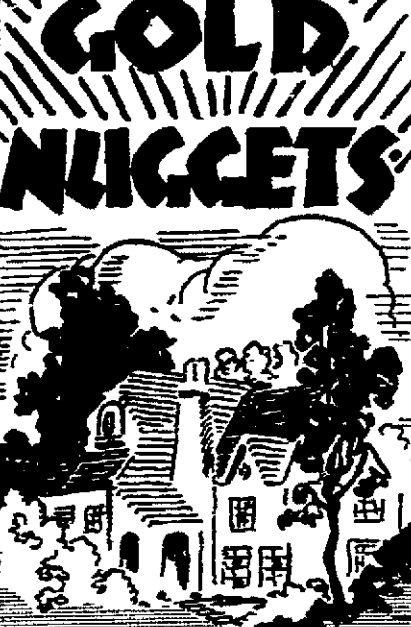

Special Leased Wire To Post-Crescent
Kansas City, Mo. (CPA)—With exceptionally severe and long continued cold retarding distribution and marketing of foodstuffs going slowly, trade in the interior is marking time.

The commitments for spring delivery are about the same as last year, but as agricultural conditions are somewhat better than a year ago there should be greater confidence as the peak of winter passes.

Wholesalers find encouragement this week in the reports that shelves are carrying comparatively light stocks throughout the southwest and merchants are pushing their sales actively.

Unemployment is somewhat larger than a year ago, but in this city and in most of the population centers of the southwest plans are ready for generous construction programs when spring opens. The states have heavy contracts ahead for road building and there should be a place for every worker in a few weeks.

QUESTION: I have decided to try chiropractic adjustments from you, but my doctor tells me there is no merit in chiropractic. Of course I know that he is prejudiced against other methods outside of medicine. Kindly explain more about chiropractic in your column.—F. L.

ANSWER: I will quote Dr. Hender, M. D., for an answer to your question: Sixteen years a Medical Physician and Medical Instructor, fifteen years a practicing Chiropractor, this question often is put up to me: "Now, Doctor, with your years of experience in both Chiropractic and medicine, how do they compare?" and my answer is usually similar to this: "There is no comparison whatever, as I cannot promise any definite results when treating a patient medically, but when I adjust them, I feel certain that I am going to get results."

I have had sixteen years of experience in the practice of medicine and about fifteen years in Chiropractic; being an egotistical, new-born student in medicine filled to the brim with bacteriological ideas, I was slow in adopting anything Chiropractic. However, being associated with Dr. D. D. Palmer and his son, B. J., in their work and the enthusiasm shown by both of them, I could not help but imbibe somewhat of their enthusiasm and from this I was led to investigate, and from my investigation to confirmation and, naturally, conversion.

If the question was put up to me now, and I had to decide between the two, in this way, "Will you give up the practice of medicine or will you give up Chiropractic?" with the statement that I could not be allowed to use the two, but must choose between, I would immediately say, without any reservation whatever, "Chiropractic for me."

Chapter 21
CROSSWORDS

WHAT was the significance of the underscored phrases in the Bible and the gold coin?

The thud of the brass knocker on the front door broke into Peggy's thoughts and she caught her breath while the blood raced back to her heart.

Gathering courage, Peggy went to the door. She had had a night's rest and chain placed on the door and did not remove the chain when she opened the door and peered through the crack.

"It's only me, Obadiah Evans. This ain't exactly the time for a social call, Miss Prescott, but I was passin' and saw your light goin' and stopped to inquire for you."

"Come in! I am delighted to see you. I was commencing to think you and Jim had forgotten my existence."

"Don't ever think that," responded Obadiah, his cordial words emphasized by a final shake of her hand before he released it. "Jim's been considerable upset—"

"Why?"

"Cause of Ben Why in back that boy had to come down with small pox just now is beyond my understanding—and Jim so anxious to see him. Jim's trying to find out what became of the contents of the envelope Ben says he picked up."

The emphasis on the word "saw" was unmistakable and Peggy looked at her guest curiously.

"I am stupid, perhaps," she admitted slowly. "Exactly what do you mean, Mr. Evans?"

Evans cleared his throat.

"Ben told you and Jim he saw you drop the envelope and picked it up and brought it to you right away," he began again with more hesitation. "He declared he returned it just like he found it; therefore the envelope must have been empty when you dropped it."

Peggy sprang to her feet, her eyes blazing—"You accuse me of opening your letter and taking it out, a letter written by Commander Sinclair, a man I've never seen in my life—a man I've never heard of!"

Peggy shivered hard; she was so infuriated that she was on the verge of tears.

"My successor," she admitted, controlling her voice by an effort, "promised I had to carry out the stipulations mentioned in Uncle Henry's will. But I am going to carry them out and don't you forget it!"

"I play fair," she went on, "I gave you my solemn word I took that letter back to you unopened and unread."

There was a second's pause.

"I believe you."

Looking up Peggy saw Obadiah's expression had softened. He was even smiling.

"You sure do go down a fellow's throat," he said, drily. "Now, before you give me a chance to explain," Miss Prescott, holding up her hand as she would have interrupted him—"the strange part is that any one should have taken the letter from the envelope. Was it sealed?"

"Yes."

Obadiah sat back.

"Ben never was great on sticking to the absolute truth," he said slowly. "Time may have come by before he picked up the envelope; some one else may have touched it in the interval and taken out the letter, leaving the empty envelope."

"But if Ben didn't see me drop the letter why did he bring it to me when it was addressed to you?"

"Danced! That isn't right!" Obadiah eyed her with growing respect; the girl had brains as well as pluck. "Weren't you just set that envelope before being hit?"

"When I put it in my bag," promptly. "The bag probably came open when I fell getting over your stone wall. I must have broken the bag then."

"That was in the lower pasture?"

Peggy nodded an affirmative.

"Praps Ben saw you far—"

"Very likely," Mr. Chase was in the lane and came to my assistance; they may have been together," Peggy spoke rapidly, disoriented by her thoughts moving swiftly. "Oh, now I recall that Mr. Chase, in bringing me home, left Ben at the lower gate and told him to wait there until he returned—that was only a stone's throw from where I fell. From the lane Ben could have seen the white envelope on the ground."

"Sure, he could have," agreed Obadiah. He bent closer. "Did you notice any one else hanging round in the woods?" Then, as she knitted her brows in thought: "Sundown, perhaps?"

"I saw no one," she declared, after a pause. She glanced up. I wouldn't know Sundown, for we have never met."

"Keep away from him."

Obadiah spoke with authority and Peggy regarded him in surprise.

"Above all, Miss Prescott, don't let the half-bred in unless Julia's here, or some one else. He's not just the caller for a young girl to receive alone."

"Mr. Chase spoke very kindly of him," she objected, although impressed by Obadiah's seriousness.

"Mr. Chase don't know him as I do," quickly. "And besides he's given to thinking good of all men—and women," with a smile which quickly faded.

"Promise me you won't go to Sundown's camp unless with Mr. Chase or Jim or me."

"Why—if you ask it, certainly," but Peggy showed her disappointment. "There are so few places I can go, Mr. Evans, within the hour's restriction Uncle Herbert placed on my absence daily."

"That's true," looking at her sympathetically. "Say, how any one to know how long you are absent?"

"Oh, I keep a log—"

Peggy pointed to the desk where a ledger lay open at one end. "Every time I leave and return it is entered here."

"Wouldn't the court consider that hearsay evidence?"

"I-I don't know," Peggy hesitated in growing doubt. "The executor, Mr. Chase, never made any suggestions in the matter—this was my own idea."

In turn Obadiah hesitated. "I ain't very well acquainted with the law," he acknowledged, stroking his chin reflectively. He raised. "Maybe Mr. Chase has made his own arrangements about proving the length of time you are absent each day."

"How?" quickly.

"He may be employing some one to keep tally," Obadiah started around and then back at her—"Your maid—"

"Oh, but that's spyin'—and Julia would not stoop to that," but in Peggy's "She's a lady—"

"Sure," he agreed heartily. "But Chase in getting to watch your coming and going, would be protecting your interests; don't you see that?"

Peggy shook her head doubtfully as she accompanied him to the door and lent a hand as he struggled into his overcoat. She closed his friend's door and locked it. "Good night," then, locking the door and replacing the night chain, she made the rounds of the living room, switching off the lights. Then she lobbied up to bed. (Copyright, D. Appleton and Co.)

GOVERNMENT AND BANKERS WATCHING REDISCOUNT RATE

Lowering Would Stimulate Flow of Money, Financiers Believe

BY J. C. RUTLE
(Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press)

Washington, (C.P.A.)—Possibility of a lowering of the rediscount rate by the federal reserve districts is agitating government officials and private bankers here and throughout the country. One high official of the government today made the significant statement that "up until now" there had been no occasion for considering a lowering of the rate.

Many private financiers feel that at the moment such a move would stimulate the flow of money into industrial and construction channels and give as well as spur to stock exchange activities.

This view is quite apart from that of members of the federal reserve board, who carefully avoid any private or official declaration of their position on this subject. The private bankers, however, feel that a resumption of activity in the stock market would be not a danger but a reassuring factor. They declare that in most instances Wall Street is about two months ahead in forecasting business trends. Sometimes they admit, Wall Street is lamentably wrong in its conclusions but in many cases which they cite the future of certain industries and country-wide business trends have been discounted well in advance by the stock market.

With this thought in mind, they feel that additional activity in Wall Street would bring reassurance to the public.

Bankers point out that business men who themselves are not operating in any way in the stock market have been more encouraged by the setting aside of 100,000 shares by the United States Steel corporation, to be offered employees at $169 a share, than by nearly any other recent happening.

It is true that steel was at its high on Sept. 3, last when it touched $261.75, and that it dropped to $150 on Nov. 13, but while the price of this security has frequently dropped below the figure at which it has been offered to employees, it never has remained below that figure and there has never been an offering in the past which has not shown a profit to those who accepted it and held their stock.

The offering is accepted in many quarters as an assurance that the executives and bankers of the corporation feel that $169 represents a minimum for the stock.

Financiers assert their full realization that Wall Street conditions do not dictate industrial positions but that they frequently indicate them and that stock market activities have come to be regarded not as a factor but as a barometer in business. In consequence, they are watching this barometer sharply for a move to "fair and warmer."

A lowering of the rediscount rate might be the change which would move the needle in that direction.

SCHNEIDER BILL IS GIVEN SUPPORT

Measure to Reimburse Man for Navy Help Reported Favorably

(Washington Bureau of the Post-Crescent)

Washington—The efforts of Representative George J. Schneider of Appleton to reimburse William P. Flood for inventions and suggestions which proved of benefit to the navy, have received the support of the Committee on Naval Affairs of the House.

The committee has reported favorably on the bill, and Charles Francis Adams, secretary of the navy, has informed the committee that neither the navy department nor the Bureau of Budget has any objection to the passage of the bill.

Flood claims to have patented and developed several methods by which the Naval Gun factory, in which he was employed as a machinist, was able to expedite production in the lapping of guns and designing of torpedoes. It is further claimed that these patents helped to protect the guns from corrosion and rust brought about by exposure to the weather, and to meant a substantial saving to the navy department.

Flood, who lives in Washington, D. C., did not receive any compensation other than his regular salary for these special and valuable services.

LITTLE CHANGE SEEN IN NEW TOBACCO CROP

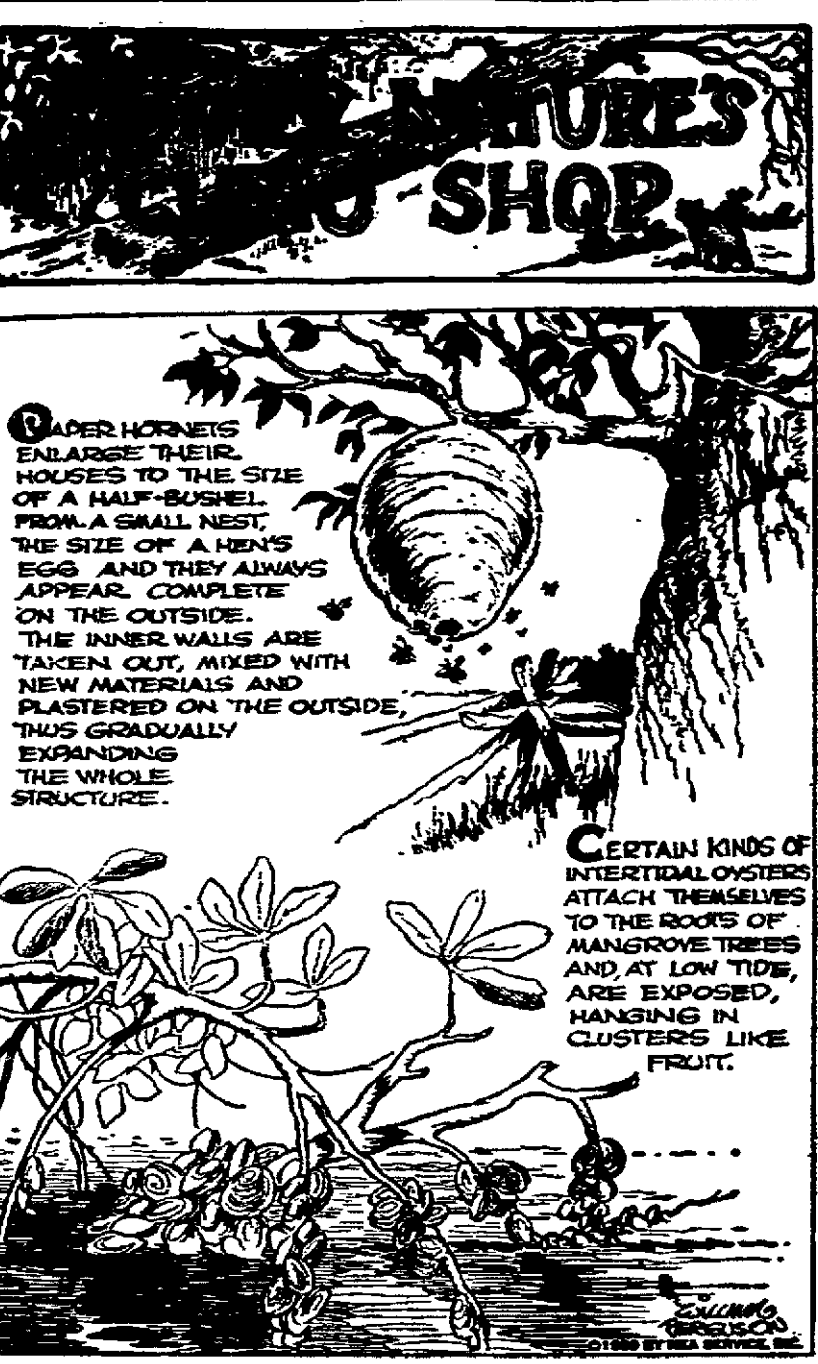

BY RUBY A. BLACK
Post-Crescent Washington Correspondent

Washington—The outlook for Wisconsin tobacco indicates a crop about the size of the 1929 crop, with a small supply of good binder tobacco but a less favorable demand for stemming tobacco.

In the annual agricultural outlook report made public by the Department of Agriculture today, the department makes the following statement on Wisconsin tobacco, types 34 and 35:

"The outlook for these types is favorable for a crop of about the same size as that produced in 1929. The indications are that the supply of good binder tobacco will be small at the beginning of the marketing season. Stemming tobacco is at present in good demand due to the small proportion of the 1929 crop going into grades used for stemming purposes. Since this unusual condition is unlikely to occur next fall and winter, the demand for stemming tobacco may be less favorable than at present."

In general, the department says, the outlook for cigar types of tobacco continues favorable, although further increases in acreage do not appear to be advisable.

Unknown Fiend Throws German City In Terror

BY MILTON BRONNER
Dusseldorf, Germany—Dusseldorf today is a city of dread. Fear stalks the streets and shakes the nerves of even the strongest. Anxious mothers keep their children at home. Fathers dread the fall of the twilight when their daughters have not yet returned from office, shop or school.

For in this great city, which is such a hive of German industry, a stalking fiend has killed one man, three women and four children and mutilated eleven other women.

There is no identity clue. There is not even certainty whether the killer is man or woman. The best efforts of the cleverest criminal police of Dusseldorf and the famous Berlin force have so far availed nothing.

DIRECTED POLICE TO VICTIM

And the killer, with sardonic indifference to their frantic efforts, calmly mailed to a local Communist paper a map which showed where they could find buried the body of one of his latest victims. Little 5-year-old Gertrude Albrecht. Digging was started at the point indicated and the body was really there.

Not since the Whitechapel district of the east end of London stood aghast at the series of murders committed by "Jack the Ripper" has any great town been so shaken as is Dusseldorf at present. The London killer claimed eight women victims and his crimes extended over a period running from 1887 to 1889 inclusive. The German killer already has exceeded this in ten months.

"Jack the Ripper" never was caught, despite all the efforts of famed Scotland Yard. Indeed, one of his victims was killed almost under the nose of the police. The frightened Dusseldorfer are beginning to wonder whether their own sleuths are going to have any better luck.

One of the results of their feeling is that a sort of voluntary curfew has been put into force. Parents do not allow their children out when dark begins to fall. They are afraid to send them to nearby stores even to get a loaf of bread. The streets off the main highways take on a deserted look when night comes. Plainclothes police are everywhere on the watch.

The last victim of the fiend was little Gertrude Albrecht. It is believed she was enticed away by a woman, who, on the previous day, gave the child some candy and promised to come again the next day to give her another package.

This clue was given the police by two other children who said a woman also gave them candy. They described her as about 50 years of age, with dark hair worn close down to the neck, dark eyes and red, sun-burned face. They also accentuated the fact that she spoke with a deep hoarse voice. So now the police are wondering whether the murderer is a man who disguises himself as a woman, or a woman who sometimes disguises herself as a man.

MAP INDICATED GRAVE

The police were not certain as to the fact of the Albrecht child until the local Communist paper got a mysterious communication. It was posted in Dusseldorf and contained:

COMMODITY PRICE TREND STILL DOWN BUT AT SLOW PACE

Condition Retards Business Recovery, Dunn Points Out

BY GEORGE T. HUGHES
(Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press)

Wall Street, New York—(C.P.A.)—Bearing on the long term outlook for both business and finance, as well as pertinent to the immediate situation, is the trend of commodity prices. That trend is now and has been for some time downward. The pace is not so rapid as it has been but there is no change in direction.

It is one of the topics discussed in the weekly trade reviews. Dunn points out that 31 out of 53 changes in the week in its list of typical commodities are downward. This authority stresses the retarding influence on business recovery such a condition exercises. Obviously there is no need of anticipating needs on the part of consumers if by waiting they seem to be assured of buying to better average later on.

Even the better outlook for the steel producers, although the larger units in the industry have often in the past demonstrated their ability to do business at a profit on a falling commodity price scale. It is this trend which makes the street so skeptical about the ability of the copper interests to hold the price of the metal at 18 cents. They have accomplished their ends so far but at the expense of a drastic cut in sales.

The point, however, is that to maintain price in this one field while almost everywhere else they are going the other way is going to be difficult to say the least.

RADIO COMMISSION PUTS HENDERSON ON PROBATION PERIOD

Action Is Taken for Using "Objectionable Language" Over Air

BY ROBERT MACK
(Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press)

Washington—W. K. Henderson is on probation for 30 days for using "objectionable language" over his high-powered transmitter at Shreveport, La., station KWKH.

Forced to act by a more or less aroused congress, the federal radio commission has displayed its first symptoms of courage in the affair, and adopted the unique course of placing the allegedly wayward broadcaster on probation.

Maybe the action would have been more drastic, but Mr. Henderson notified the commission he would cease and desist from using the language complained of. Senator Dill, of Washington, accused him of "boasting" the air and making it impossible for women and children to listen to him.

During from Jan. 21, station KWKH is on its good behavior, violation of which would cause drastic action. The usual license period is for three months. It is the first time in radio history that a station has been so cited.

30 GET SHORT LICENSES

The commission took the action in the Henderson case while considering renewal of licenses for all broadcasting stations. Fifty other stations, large and small, scattered throughout the country, were accorded 30-day licenses, but only half a dozen of them for violation of commission regulations. In the other cases the

STOCK RECOVERY IS RESUMED WITH STEELS IN LEAD

Coppers and Food Groups Also Lend Aid to Bullish Operations

BY STANLEY W. PRENOSIL
Associated Press Financial Editor
New York—(AP)—The recovery in the stock market, which started last week, and lifted the general level of prices out of the narrow trading area with which they had been fluctuating since before Christmas, was resumed after an early period of irregularity today. New leaders, particularly in the steel, copper and food groups, were brought forward by operators for the advance when heavy profit-taking retarded the rise in some of the recent favorites.

While there were no tangible developments in the day's news to affect the price movement, buying operations in many issues were based on the theory that the recent upturn in steel operations presaged a general recovery in business by spring. Call money repeated the favorable performance of opening at 4 1/2 and then dropping to 4 1/4, and a plentiful supply of funds made its appearance in the market.

Montgomery Ward fell 3 1/2 points to 49 5/8 on the poor 1929 earnings report, which was blamed on the pre-payment of parcel post policy adopted in the middle of the year, but rallied to 49 1/2 in the early afternoon. Under the impact of short covering, Sears Roebuck reacted 2 points to 87 and then snapped back to 92. J. I. Case, Auburn Auto and U. S. Industrial Alcohol sold 1 1/2 points to 5 points lower before they met effective buying support.

GOODYEAR STRONG
Goodyear Rubber, which is expected to show around $10 a share, despite heavy inventory charges-off in its annual report to be published next month, was up 5 points. E. G. Shattuck advanced more than 3 points on reports of a large expansion program for 1930. Beechnut Packing advanced 4 points and National Biscuit (old) sold at least 3 points higher.

Steels, particularly of the specialty variety, attracted a large following. U. S. Steel Common, after opening unchanged at 179, sold down a point and then rallied above 180. Inland Steel was marked up 5 points and Vanadium 4 1/2. International Combustion Preferred, Allied Chemical, Eastman Kodak, Westinghouse, Westinghouse Electric First Preferred, and the American Tobacco issues sold 3 to 5 points higher.

Although most of the recent railroad earnings reports have made disappointing comparisons with the corresponding period of a year before, there was a good demand for the high grade railroad shares. New York & Harlem jumped 10 points in odd lot transactions. Atchafalpa was marked up at least 3 points and St. Louis & Northwestern and "Nickel Plate" were among the issues to advance 2 points or more.

Coppers started upward in the early afternoon. Anaconda, Grant, Granby and Calumet & Arizona, being quickly marked up 1 to 2 points.

One block of 25,000 shares of Chrysler motors changed hands at 35, up 1-4.

RAIL, UTILITY BONDS SHOW MORE STRENGTH

New York—(AP)—A fair degree of improvement was shown by listed bonds in today's early trading. Rails and utilities shook off some of their lethargy, suggesting that assimilation of the new financing had progressed to a point where attention would be shifted back to seasoned securities. United States government bonds were firm and active.

Gains of about half a point resulted from buying inquiry for American Telephone collateral 5s and 6s and 6 1/2s, 1930s, Consumers Power 5s, Utah Power & Light 5s and two or three other utilities. In the rail group Nickel Plate 4 1/2s and Lake Shore 5 1/2s sold up sharply on small orders. There was a larger advance in Atlantic Coast Line 4 1/2s, the New Chesapeake & Ohio 4 1/2s, Burlington 4 1/2s, Washburn 5 1/2s and Louisville & Nashville 4 1/2s. Pennsylvania General 4 1/2s moved against the generally firm trend of the high grade carriers, selling off nearly a point.

Industrials were mixed. Illinois Steel 4 1/2s yielded another half point in the low priced group. Centennial 5 1/2s sold up a point. North American Cement 5 1/2s advanced 1/2. The convertibles were slightly irregular. American Telephone 4 1/2s rose 2 points with the stock and Atchafalpa 4 1/2s gained a point before selling off. International Telephone 4 1/2s were heavy.

The firmness of foreign bonds was again apparent. French 7 1/2s, Italian 7 1/2s, German 5s City of Rome 6 1/2s and Kingdom of Denmark 6 1/2s gained small fractions to last week's highs, but Australian 5s showed further softness. The 1925 maturity sold down to 90. Its 1928 maturity, however, was comparatively light. A $10,000,000 Central Gas & Electric issue of three year 5 1/2 per cent gold notes was marketed at 95 1/4, while a New Republic Service company sold $1,000,000 in first mortgage 5 1/2 per cent 1930 1/2s.

HOGS STEADY WITH HUGE SHIPMENTS

Receipts of 90,000 Include 43,000 Direct to Packers

Chicago—(AP)—The largest supply of hogs offered in the local yards in more than a year failed to overwhelm the trade but strictly choice shipping hogs were held steady. Of the estimated supply of 90,000 packers were reported to have received on direct billings fully $5,000 and possibly more. Over 200 cars of stock arrived late. Trading was suspended by small packers and eastern buyers during the first rounds and 150-200 lb. hogs were taken at $10.10-10.25 and showed no change as compared with Saturday's quotations.

Cattle receipts of 150,000 were larger than the trade could readily absorb and prices weakened on the more plentiful kinds of medium and heavy steers which lacked finish. Packers had no direct and little stock was on hand. Feeder trade has almost vanished due to the prevalence of low temperatures. A moderate run of calves was offered and prices were held up.

Packers received 4,000 lambs on billing out of an estimated local run of 15,000. None of the outside market had big supplies to the local market. In 13 markets falling slightly under last Sunday's aggregate supply of 73,000. Generally steady prices were available for choice killing weight lambs.

HULL ANXIOUS FOR SENATE TO APPROVE HIGH DAIRY TARIFF

Appears Before Senate Committee Urging Increase in Rates

By RUBY A. BLACK
(Post-Crescent Washington Correspondent)

Washington, D. C., July 15.—Wisconsin dairy farmers confronted with great losses because of the drop in the price of their products, particularly butter, Representative Merion Hull of Black River Falls is getting impatient for the senate to pass the tariff bill providing increases in the duties on dairy products.

Representative Hull was the only Wisconsin congressman who voted against the tariff bill in the House of Representatives, opposing it because he thought it did not give enough increase on agricultural products to put them on a par with manufactured products.

He appeared before the senate finance committee urging higher rates on dairy products, which were granted, and in general the senate has amended the bill to provide higher duties on farm products with some reductions from the house level on manufactured products.

The Black River Falls congressman says that the farmers of Jackson alone are losing $15,000 a month now because of the low price of butter. He has placed in the Congressional Record the resolution adopted by the Sauk-co union of the American Society of Equity, demanding higher tariff duties on farm products.

STILL WEARS SMILE
Despite his gloom over the agricultural situation, however, Representative Hull has been wearing a smile this week. Sometimes he tries to hide it because he insists he is just "that old." The occasion for the smile is that he became a grandfather on Monday when a daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Helling at Milwaukee. Mrs. Helling is the daughter of Representative and Mrs. Hull.

Miss Lois Hull, another daughter who is her father's secretary, is also smiling for the first time she ever had is named after her, the new baby being Lois Helling. Mrs. Hull is in Milwaukee with her daughter.

If the senate adopts an amendment to the tariff bill proposed by Senator Robert M. La Follette, Jr., the University of Wisconsin and other educational institutions can import scientific instruments, apparatus, and devices imported for research purposes and not for sale. Senator La Follette also proposes an amendment under which any individual returning from abroad can bring back in without paying duty all professional books, implements, instruments, and tools of trade, occupation, or employment, providing they are the same books and instruments he took with him when he left the United States. Such a rule now applies to wearing apparel and household effects taken to a foreign country by a resident of the United States and brought back.

BACKS COURT GUARD

When an appropriation bill providing the money asked for by the Coast Guard for 20 speedboats to use in preventing smuggling on the Great Lakes comes to the Senate, Senator John J. Blaine of Boscobel is quite likely to introduce amendments providing for more boats for the Coast Guard's life-saving services on Lake Michigan.

Senator Blaine has been trying to get better facilities for the Coast Guard's rescue work on Lake Michigan ever since the fall storms, without luck so far.

Meanwhile, the bill providing for a Coast Guard cutter for the Great Lakes has been favorably reported to the House of Representatives and may be passed any time.

Robert Crosser of Ohio has introduced a bill providing for two Coast Guard cutters for Lake Superior and one for Lake Erie. The total cost not to exceed $600,000. These cutters would be used for rescue and assistance work.

Back in the Civil War there was a young private who enlisted as Stephen Olin. One day his lieutenant's son disappeared. The young private knew nothing about it, but the lieutenant scared him nearly to death by telling him that he had to find that suitcase or something would happen to him. In fact, the scare did cause him to run away, rather than face the lieutenant's outburst.

So Stephen Olin is listed as a deserter and he got a pension. His name is now Carlton Olin, and he lives at Belmont, Wis. Representative Henry Allen Cooper of Racine has introduced a bill which if passed will permit Carlton Olin to get pension as a Civil War veteran.

Seven Wisconsin men will arrive at March Field, Riverside, Calif., by March 15 to enter the primary flying school of the Air Corps there as flying cadets to learn to be Army pilots.

They are: Eugene S. Graham of Ripon, Frank L. Spangler of DePue, William L. Schebeck of Wisconsin Rapids, Donald L. Meads of Madison, Daniel P. Richie of West Allis, and Oliver Russell Hagness and Edward J. McIntyre of Milwaukee.

Wisconsin men who have recently accepted appointments as reserve officers of the Army include: George Matthew Kammerer, Wausau, second lieutenant, financial department reserves; James Warren McGill, superior, captain, Medical reserves; George Johnson, Richmond center, second lieutenant, Infantry; Atwood Claire Elliott, Milwaukee, captain, Cavalry; and Willard Archibald McLehlan, Milwaukee, second lieutenant, Cavalry.

Applications for admission to the examinations of candidates for postmaster at Plymouth and at Phillips will be received up to the end of business on Feb. 4 at the United States Civil Service Commission.

Clyde D. Sullivan's commission as postmaster at Phillips expired on Dec. 21, and although he is not to be reappointed, he is continuing to serve until his successor is appointed. The job pays $2,900 a year.

Allan W. Wiggins has been removed as postmaster at Plymouth, "for the good of the service," the Post Office department explains, and Carl C. Corbett has been named acting postmaster. This job pays $3,000 a year.

Alvin S. Evenson has been appointed postmaster at Hules, Forest county, to succeed Sylvester J. Hansen, resigned. Harry Hansen has been serving as acting postmaster there.

The Civil Service commission will soon announce examinations for candidates for appointment as postmaster at Bay City. Miss Irene M. Hortenbach has been postmaster there for some time, and was reappointed when the office was promoted to the presidential class last July 1. She resigned on Feb. 15, however, but is continuing to serve until a successor can be found. The job pays $1,100.

County Taxes Show Big Increase In Last Decade

Outagamie-co's taxes have increased almost 100 per cent in the last 10 years, an examination of records at the office of John E. Hantschel, county clerk, reveals. The books show that in 1920 total taxes raised by the county were $644,396.54 while in 1930 the total county taxes will be $1,041,750.36.

The records show that county taxes increased in 1921 to $732,606. In 1922 there was another increase to $818,815.50. In 1923, however, there was a decrease to $750,631.51. The next year, 1924, there was another decrease and the total tax was $655,617.81. Taxes in 1925 increased to $698,624.72; in 1927 to $756,218.21; in 1929 there was a slight drop to $741,457.99.

And in 1930 the county will collect the largest tax in history here. However, Mr. Hantschel explained, the county faced a number of unusual situations this year which, when removed, will bring the situation back to around the same figure as for 1929. This year the county was forced to provide about $75,000 for snow removal and snow removal equipment, clean up deficits totaling another $75,000, and provide another $75,000 for completion of the sanatorium addition.

The increase in the total county taxes has not been as great as the increase in the last ten years in the general county tax, the figures reveal. In 1930 the total county tax will be $455,244.50 as compared with a low figure of $68,750 established in 1924. Following is the amount of general county taxes raised each year since 1920: 1920, $221,134; 1921, $172,625; 1922, $110,236; 1923, $172,625; 1924, $68,750; 1925, $69,900; 1926, $109,709; 1927, $132,945; 1928, $218,200; 1929, $228,300; 1930, $435,341.

State taxes raised in Outagamie-co in the last ten years is as follows: 1920, $156,161; 1921, $146,642; 1922, $150,699; 1923, $113,957; 1924, $102,661; 1925, $99,551; 1926, none; 1927, none; 1928, $52,262; 1929, $51,067; 1930, $39,158.

LABOR-SAVING JACK

Washington—A novel hydraulic jack, designed to eliminate the back-breaking labor in changing a tire, is the invention of Barney Goldman. It is attached to the axle at the four wheels and is operated by a hydraulic pump controlled directly from the dashboard. The car's engine furnishes the power for the pump.

PREFERRED STOCKS OF HIGH GRADE ALL MOVE LIKE BONDS

They Are Affected by Market Price and Move Opposite to Common Stocks

By GEORGE T. HUGHES
Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press

New York—High grade preferred stocks are responsive in market price to the same influences that affect investment bonds. This is true in direct proportion to the rating of the preferred stock. It is not true of speculative preferred stocks which move with speculative common stocks but it is always true of prime preferred stocks which advance with bonds and decline with them.

If money rates are low and commodity prices are declining investment bonds rise and high grade preferred stocks rise also. Contrarywise if money is high and commodity prices are advancing bonds sell off and take high grade preferred stocks along. The result is that a preferred stock of unquestioned rating, such as U. S. Steel, sells on a yield basis comparable to that of the best bonds. Such preferred stocks stand up in a market collapse like that of last autumn just as well as high grade bonds. Both classes of securities give ground somewhat under such circumstances because harassed speculators must secure funds and the easiest way is to sacrifice government bonds and gilt edged preferred stocks but they recover after the panic more rapidly than any other class.

For these reasons the best of preferred stocks are attractive investments now. The post-panic recovery is well under way but confidence has not been restored and new funds are seeking only the most conservative obligations. Fully as important is the declining trend of commodity prices. Dividends on pre-
